Tax Gambling, Liquor Not Gasoline—CCFer

It would have been better to place additional taxes on gambling, liquor and insurance companies than to increase the gasoline tax, Arthur Turner (CCF—Vancouver-East) told the legislature yesterday.

He said "the oft-repeated boasts of all the things done by the government without an increase in taxes now are over. The new gasoline tax will be reflected in all consumer goods costs."

Socred May Vote 'No'

First Socred private member to speak in the legislature's budget debate indicated yesterday he may vote against the three-cent boost in gasoline tax proposed by Premier Bennett.

Cyril Shelford (SC—Omineca), often referred to as the maverick Social Creditor, called for a one-price system by gasoline companies throughout B.C.

SAME PRICES

He couldn't see why gas companies can't do the same as one big mail-order department store and tobacco companies do, in charging the same prices for products anywhere in B.C.

And he warned: "I trust the government will make strong representation to the gas companies in this regard before I am asked to vote on this increase."

Mr. Shelford said the increase means "we will buy $3,000,000 less of some other consumer goods which will add to the number of unemployed."

Thieves Grab Bag of Cash

VANCOUVER (CP) — Two women were attacked on a main street Tuesday and robbed of $348 they were carrying from an insurance company to a bank. One of the women saved a second bag of money when she grabbed it back from her attackers and escaped them off with screams. Police said the men made their getaway in a car driven by a third man.

Heels Spike Lawsuit

VANCOUVER (CP) — Women who wear spike heels should be wary of running on wet floors, county court Judge S. J. Remnant warned Tuesday in dismissing a damage claim against a Vancouver grocery.

The suit against the store was brought by Jeannie Jenkins, who claimed damages of $3,600 for injuries suffered when she fell on the store's floor a year ago.

In a written judgment, Judge Remnant found the store was not negligent in regard to water on the floor at the store's entrance, as claimed. He found that the day in question was wet, that the store had placed mats at the entrance, and that the woman was wearing 2½-inch "spike" heels when she ran into the store.

House Drops Vote at 18

OTTAWA (CP) — A bill to lower the minimum federal voting age to 18 from 21 failed to come to a vote in the Commons Tuesday, though its principle received warm support from all three parties.

Leave Indian Lands Alone

The legislature's only native Indian member, Frank Calder (CCF—Atlin), yesterday urged the government to stop taking over Indian lands, until the federal joint parliamentary committee on Indian matters has brought in its expected report.

Mr. Calder admitted that under existing laws the provincial government can take over and subdivide one-twentieth of Indian reservation

Crackdown Warning By Minister

Provincial government is cracking down on people who deliberately lie to qualify for welfare payments, Welfare Minister Wesley D. Black told the legislature yesterday.

He also lashed out at those people who were "shunning their responsibility" in assisting their relatives, not only financially but also in kind.

MURT SOCIAL LIFE

"You would be surprised, Mr. Speaker, at the demands for services that we receive," he said. "Why, we've had requests for housekeepers to take care of mom and dad because they are curtailing some of the social life of the daughter or son with whom they are living."

Mr. Black said that he regretted the number of people who would perjure themselves in order to obtain public funds.

STOP, PRONECUTE

"We are meeting the case of the individual who travels extensively throughout the province and applies for assistance from office to office. Every effort is made to stop this practice and prosecute when possible."

The minister added it was the duty of every member to bring specific complaints to the attention of the welfare department when abuses of allowances are suspected.

The situation would then be rectified, he promised.

Our Barristers Are Too Bashful

Canadian lawyers don't win high damage awards for their clients because they are too bashful, says one of Canada's leading lawyers in the field of personal injury cases said here yesterday.

Melvin M. Belli, of San Francisco, "King of Torts" and internationally known for the high damage settlements he has brought about in American courts, said during a brief visit to Victoria:

"It is utterly inexorable that you give awards much lower than our courts. The beautiful, in fact, one of America's leading lawyers in the field of personal injury cases said here yesterday.

That's exactly what it is, he said.

Mr. Belli said an American lawyer can win $100,000 for a case, asked what they said Tuesday, because Congo was shot in the first reprisals for the death of ex-premier Patrice Lumumba.

UN Seeks Probe Katanga Says No

ELISABETHVILLE, Congo (AP) — Katanga's Premier Moise Tshombe said Tuesday he is unworried by world reaction to the Patrice Lumumba slaying and as for a possible United Nations investigation — "I couldn't give a damn." He said his messages to the UN have been ignored and, therefore, he will ignore a UN request for an investigation of the Lumumba slaying.

Canada Stands Firm Behind Dag—Green

By JACK BEST

OTTAWA (CP) — Amid desk-thumping applause from all sides of the Commons, External Affairs Minister Green Tuesday pledged Canada's firm support of UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld, warmly praising his "courage, determination and endless patience."

At the same time he roundly condemned Russia's "unilateral action" in withdrawing recognition of the secretary-general, and said this withdrawal of the UN's task in the Congo more difficult.

"Any unilateral action by the Soviet government can have no legal effect on the position of Mr. Hammarskjöld," he said, "but it is of course deplorable that at a time of grave crisis for the United Nations one of the permanent members of the Security Council should choose to withdraw its support and recognition from the chief administrative officer of the organization."

"This can only add greatly to the difficulties facing the secretary-general," he said, "but it is of course deplorable that at a time of grave crisis for the United Nations one of the permanent members of the Security Council should choose to withdraw its support and recognition from the chief administrative officer of the organization."

Belgium, U.S. Targets In Pro-Lumumba Riots

LONDON (UPI) — Anti-Belgian demonstrations broke out in many parts of the world yesterday. The outbursts drew official protests from Belgian Foreign Minister Pierre Wigny who said Belgium had nothing to do with the arrest, detention and killing of deposed Congo premier Patrice Lumumba.

The demonstrations sparked protests against the United States in New Delhi where the embassy was forced to close briefly and in Lahore, Pakistan. There were threats of anti-U.S. and Belgian demonstrations in Cairo.

The biggest anti-Belgian rioting came in Belgrade where 30,000 persons stormed the Belgian embassy and ransacked it after breaking through police cordons.

Six thousand African, Asian and Russian students shouting "murderers" stormed the Belgian embassy in Moscow for five hours and scoured its yellow and white Georgian facade with bolts of red, blue and black ink.

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga (UPI) — Unconfirmed reports reaching Leopoldville last night said two Belgians were shot in the first reprisals for the death of ex-premier Patrice Lumumba.

The Belgians were accused in a case, asked what they said Tuesday, because Congo was shot in the first reprisals for the death of ex-premier Patrice Lumumba.

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Russia last night demanded that the UN fire Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld, leave the Congo and impose sanctions against Belgium for actions which Russia said led to the murder of Patrice Lumumba.

A draft resolution submitted for today's Security Council session in effect placed before the council a Russian declaration published yesterday in Moscow which said the blood of Lumumba was on Hammarskjöld's hands.

That declaration said Russia no longer recognized Hammarskjöld as secretary-general.

The U.S. and Britain already have announced support of the beleaguered secretary-general, who weathered a Soviet assault over UN actions in the crisis-torn African nation last fall.

Russia's resolution also demanded:

- Arrest of President Tshombe of Katanga, where Lumumba was killed, and of Maj. Gen. Joseph Mobutu, both foes of Lumumbist factions in the Congo;

- Disarming of all troops under their command;
- Expulsion of all Belgians from the Congo;

- Recognition for the Stanleyville regime of Communist Antoine Gizenga as the government of all the Congo.

The resolution would direct that UN operations in the Congo halt within a month and all foreign troops be withdrawn "to enable the Congolese people to decide its own internal affairs."

The council session is expected to be one of the most explosive in the UN's 15-year history.

First speaker listed in U.S. ambassador Adlai Stevenson, who hinted yesterday the U.S. and other nations might submit a new Congo peace plan with "some elements" previously missing.

It was indicated the U.S. favored proceeding with a plan to seek greater authority for the UN to end civil strife in the Congo.

WELFARE 'DRAINED' BY JOBLESS CRISIS

Black Blames Ottawa

By PETER BRUTON

Welfare Minister Wesley Black admitted yesterday that the government had been forced to "slow down" in some of its preventive welfare services because of the rising demands of unemployment on the economy.

Not once did the minister mention the name of Miss Ruby McKay, former superintendent of child welfare, who quit her job six weeks ago in protest over the government's "restrictive" policies towards child welfare.

But he had nothing but praise for her successor.

PLAYING POLITICS
Mr. Black, who has remained silent throughout the mushrooming demands for an inquiry into all aspects of provincial welfare services and policies, hit out at the opposition for "playing politics with this progressive program."

Both the press and the opposition had stated the people were "crying out" for an explanation, he observed.

"They need cry no longer," he said.

SERIOUS MATTER

"It is indeed a serious matter and I view it in a serious light. But anyone reading these reports would think I am a fellow who has two heads or none, that I give kids old razor blades to play with, that I put sand in their candy and put ground glass in old people's sugar."

LISTEN IN SILENCE

Except for one explosive moment, the opposition listened in silence to the minister, under fire from all sides over the government's welfare program.

That moment came when he criticized CCF leader Robert Strachan for issuing pamphlets which told people of the services the welfare department provided.

UNDUE PRESSURES

This action, he said, had not only interfered with the administration of the welfare department but had resulted in unnecessary and undue pressures on field service officers.

Instead of helping, he said, Continued on Page 3

'Fight with Last Breath' Douglas' Health Plan Vow

REGINA (CP) — An impassioned Premier T. C. Douglas vowed Tuesday in the Saskatchewan legislature that he would get a medical plan "as long as I've got the breath in my body to put it through."

He spoke heatedly after Opposition leader Ross Thatcher ended his marathon speech in the throne speech debate.

The premier attacked the concept that the government did not have a mandate from the people since it had been elected with only 41 per cent of the popular vote last June.

He said this idea was being furthered by the Liberals and their "satellite newspapers."

He said he had told meetings during the election campaign the CCF would legislate medical care if it got 51 per cent of the popular vote. He said he had been asked if the government would do so only if it got 51 per cent, and said he replied the government would like that high a percentage.

But, the premier said, the CCF promised a medical care plan if the party received a majority in the legislature. It won 37 of the 55 seats. Liberals have 17 and one is vacant.

"No amount of wiggling and stalling by our friends opposite or by their friends outside the House to forestall this legislation will succeed as long as I've got the breath in my body to put it through," Mr. Douglas cried, pointing a long finger at Mr. Thatcher and almost jumping onto the floor of the House from behind his desk.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

CONFESSIONS of an eavesdropper . . . I like listening to people's conversations in bars, coffee shops and anywhere else I can hear them. Bad manners? Maybe so. But I pardon myself for snooping on the pretext that it is part of my work.

When a man writes pieces for the paper, he has to find out how other people think and talk. Well, doesn't he?

Of course I can't show that I'm listening. I have to turn away from the talkers, and just glance at them now and then out of the corner of my eye.

The trouble about most barroom and cafe talkers, I notice, is a deplorable tendency to mumble. "She took him by surprise . . . urble urble . . . and then . . . urble . . . all around the house and the storage shed . . . urble urble . . . but I really don't blame him, because urble . . ."

I have often been tempted to stride across to these mealy-mouthed talkers and say: "For goodness sake quit swallowing your words and SPEAK UP!"

But they keep waffling on. "So I said to her, you can take your dog and your rabbit and your pet lizards and . . . obble obble obble . . . and as for that big lot of an . . . obble . . . obble . . . and I don't care what it costs. I want it done."

"You don't say!" remarks a woman sitting in the shadows at the corner. Now she sounds as though she can talk clearly. Perhaps this will encourage her companion to turn up the volume, and with any luck I'll have better reception.

"And what answer did you get?" the woman asks.

"Answer? Ha! Obble obble ooff! Omp omp obla! And that was all."

"Shocking!" the woman says. "No excuse in the world for such disgusting behavior."

"I agree. And what's more, he . . . oggle oggle oggle! And so did she! Oggle oggle oggle, as a matter of fact."

"That's it. Well, shall we go?"

"Yes. Here's your coat. Well, this is my plan to fool both of them . . . Abbigetty blaggetty blog . . . understand? Amofferty moff . . ."

So they mumble their way out of the place and into the night. I wish I had the courage to rush after them and ask what their plan is. Eavesdropping is difficult when you have to deal with wolly-mouth people.

Such poor speech habits almost compel me to mind my own business—and that's no fun.

Your Good Health

Half of Us Are Carriers Of Vicious, Hardy Staph

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, MD

"Dear Dr. Molner, I have heard a lot about 'staph' lately and would like more information—E.E.S."

And I think there are some things that ought to be said about staphylococcus, 'staph' for short.

There are various kinds of bacteria. Staph, in its various forms, is one category. Some of us suspect that there haven't been any entirely new germs since the Creation—but germs are cagey beasts and they change their ways. Maybe you could call it a form of evolution.

LEARNED BETTER

Anyway, with the advent of antibiotics, it looked as though one or another of them would be the answer to staph.

We soon learned better. Some if not all varieties of staph developed an immunity to the antibiotics.

The net result is an increase in the number of staph infections which are difficult to suppress.

As I said, there are different varieties of staph germs, some causing little concern, some much. It so happens that a vicious type of the germ is resistant to antibiotics, and is also very prevalent.

HALF CARRIERS

One calculation indicates that perhaps half of us carry this form of a staph germ around with us. So long as we are in good health, the germ does not cause any particular trouble to us, yet we can pass it along to other people who may not have our particular resistance to it, or who may be ill.

We may carry it, but not have any trouble unless the germ can get into the skin or into the body tissues.

I suppose I must be familiar with a dozen or more products developed specifically to control staph in hospitals. Various kinds of soaps, antiseptics, filters and drugs have been developed with the hope that they would be the answer to staph. The remedies have been ingenious and well-made, but none has been the complete answer.

STERILIZATION

In the operating rooms, surgeons and nurses do not depend on drugs or chemicals to get rid of staph. Rather, they depend on the old stand-by, letting only completely sterile instruments or sponges or dressings touch the patient.

You can, of course, destroy staph by use of an autoclave—bathing bandages, scalpels, retractors, etc., in super-heated steam under pressure. But you can't do that to people!

There's not much you and I can do, of course, to solve the problem as it exists in an operating room. But we can do quite a bit, individually, to reduce the staph peril to our friends and loved ones.

MOIST SKIN

We can realize that we all have a 50 per cent chance of being carriers. The germ likes to lurk in the nose, moist skin armpits, genitals, etc. We can spread it by sneezing, coughing, ruffling the bed clothes of an ill person, or at times, no doubt, by sitting on the bed of a hospital patient, or by sweeping the floors so we send swirls of dust and germs flying. We can wash our hands and faces oftener, and not breathe in the faces of invalids, and remember that we can, in fact, be living bombs when we visit friends in the hospital.

There are hopes that new antibiotics, now being developed, may be the "answer."

"Dear Dr. Molner: What are the symptoms of angina pectoris?—B.A."

If you have angina (severe heart pain) you've already gone to your doctor. If you have an occasional, casual pain, there's no sense in worrying about angina until you have your physician analyze the cause.

cause of the abnormally high rate of demands for relief from the unemployed.

The government had already embarked on a plan to review caseloads of unemployed people.

Mr. Black said it had been stated the calibre of the government's social workers had deteriorated.

"While it is true we cannot find sufficient university trained social workers to fill all the vacancies which occur the number has gradually increased," he said.

"In the past two years we have recruited 42 professionally trained social workers."

The calibre of the department's in-service trained worker was also steadily improving.

Mr. Black spoke of improvements in the child welfare branch, adding that never before in the history of B.C. had there been more children placed for adoption or more adoptions completed than in the last fiscal year.

It brought hardship and dis- appointment to people who asked for services to which they were not entitled.

NOTHING WRONG

"I'm not going to let the minister leave the House with the impression I have misled people or that I have no right to talk social welfare," said Mr. Strachan.

Mr. Black conceded there was nothing wrong in the pamphlets and Randolph Harding (CCF-Kaslo-Slocan) said: "We were just letting people know what you should have let them know."

'KEEP OUT'

"Keep out of my speech," snapped Mr. Black. "You screamed and yelled all day yesterday."

The minister said B.C.'s welfare program was second in none in Canada and that the government would continue to meet the needs of those who seek it—always bearing in mind the taxpayer who must meet the cost of all government services.

SPENDING RISES

Since 1952 B.C.'s spending on social welfare had risen from $21,500,000 or $17.88 a head to $30,400,000 or $31.41 a head.

The minister did not say that there was a sizeable federal government contribution included in these figures.

He said spending on children had risen from $1,200,000 or $1.03 for each child to $3,300,000 or $2.08 per child and that social allowances had been raised from $40 a month to $66 for a single person.

"There's a member of this assembly with eight children," said Mr. Black. "On social assistance he would get only $600 a year less than he gets as an M.L.A."

(An M.L.A. is paid a total of $3,000 for each session.)

WHICH IS IT?

"One of them's too low," said John Squire (CCF-Alberni). "I can't think which."

The minister said a heavy drain on welfare funds was the result of heavy unemployment, which was entirely due to lack of foresight on the part of the federal government.

SAME PROBLEM

The rest of Canada and the U.S. was facing the same problem.

"Unfortunately, in times of stress, and all must agree that unemployment today is a stress on our economy, certain services must take precedence over others in order that immediate need may be met and suffering alleviated," he said.

"Thus a slowdown in some of our preventive services must be accepted," Mr. Black added.

One of the frequent complaints voiced about the B.C. welfare services is the lack of preventive program needed to help recipients regain their feet.

Mr. Black emphasized that every service in the department was constantly reviewed and adjustments and changes take place.

"Although we may feel at any time that a certain phase of our program is not receiving our complete attention or the attention we desire, we do not leave that particular item in abeyance. We plan for its reconstruction in the future on an even stronger basis."

The minister said his staff had been under pressure be-

Friends and former business associates filled Metro-politan United Church yesterday to pay final tribute to the late John Carl Pendray, former Victoria mayor who died last Thursday at La Jolla, Calif.

Banked floral displays in the church, and the long line of cars which accompanied the body to Ross Bay Cemetery, told their own story of the high regard in which Mr. Pendray was held.

Lumumba's Widow Asks UN for Body

LEOPOLDVILLE (UPI) — Pauline Lumumba, widow of slain Patrice Lumumba, walked bare-breasted through the streets of Leopoldville yesterday to show her mourning for her husband.

With her walked about 100 of her late husband's followers — the women bare-breasted and the men with heads hung low.

Nova Scotia

Sales Tax Going Up Say Tories

HALIFAX (CP) — Nova Scotians have received bad news from their Conservative government — an increased sales tax and the highest gasoline tax in mainland Canada to help pay for expanded highway and hospital programs.

Premier Stanfield said in the legislature's Throne Speech debate the gasoline tax will probably be increased by two cents to 19 cents a gallon.

The existing three-per-cent sales tax would probably be increased to five per cent.

Current gasoline prices in cities are 45.9 cents a gallon for regular and 50.9 cents for premium. Country prices are about two cents a gallon higher.

Mr. Stanfield said the three-per-cent sales tax, on most items except food, will fall about $4,500,000 short of hospital needs in 1961.

Sales to Cuba Not Booming U.S. Assured

CHICAGO (UPI) — Canadian Finance Minister Fleming said Tuesday there has been no evidence of any "dramatic increase" in Canadian sales to Cuba since the U.S. imposed trade embargoes last fall.

He told businessmen here there was no basis whatsoever for fears that Canada's trade would help the Castro regime skirt the embargoes. Canada did not permit transshipment of embargoed goods or shipment of arms, ammunition and other strategic goods.

New Alps Tunnel Half Complete

PARIS (AP) — The new tunnel from France to Italy under Mont Blanc is half completed, the French contractors reported.

They have dug out 1.8 miles of the 3.6 miles allotted to them, while the Italians have penetrated 1.7 miles from their side.

They marched on the mourning Lumumba house in the African section through crowded streets. They carried two white flags to show anti-Lumumbists they were on a peaceful mission.

HEADED FOR UN

Then the procession headed for United Nations headquarters.

While her followers squatted silently outside, Mrs. Lumumba asked permission to see Rajeshwar Dayal, special UN representative in the Congo.

Accompanied by a younger brother of her husband, Albert, 26, and former minister of agriculture Joseph Lutula, and carrying her two-year-old son Roland, she was allowed past the Tunisian guards armed with machine guns.

CRIED SILENTLY

Barefooted and with her sarong tied around her waist, she walked—crying silently—into the elevator which whisked her up to Dayal's sixth-floor office.

She stayed for nearly an hour, and afterwards Albert Lumumba said she had asked UN assistance to get her husband's body repatriated and given a Christian burial.

Mrs. Lumumba is a Catholic and so are her children. Lumumba himself was baptized a Catholic, but attended an American Methodist school and never practised a religion.

Mineral-Rich North

Tories Rush Bill For Rail Spur

OTTAWA (CP)—The government Tuesday launched what may turn out to be a crash program—in and out of Parliament—to build a 60-mile rail line into the mineral-rich northland of Quebec.

Transport Minister Baker introduced a resolution dealing with a branch line to Mattagami Lake, where a base metals mine is to go into production by the end of 1962.

He stressed the importance of consideration being given the legislation "as soon as possible" because the line will take about two years to complete—at an estimated cost of $8,400,000, or roughly $26 a mile.

The resolution is the first step of a possibly long road-way through Parliament for the legislation to authorize the publicly-owned CNR to undertake the project.

The proposed rail line would be a branch of the CNR's main line to Chibougamau, Que. It would run northwesterly from a point 22 miles north of Barre, Que., into the Mattagami Lake area.

Rocket Slows But Venus Closing Fast!

MOSCOW (UPI) — A Russian scientist, Ari Sternfeld, said yesterday the Soviet Venus rocket has slowed down but is now expected to reach the area of the planet 38 to 44 days sooner than originally planned.

"Venus I" will approach earth's sister planet about mid or late April instead of late May. Slowing of the rocket means it will have a shorter distance to travel before Venus catches up with it.

This Canadian invention registered as No. RD. 02530/59 is now being manufactured under license in many countries throughout the world.

There's a reason... a good, sensible reason why you get a richer taste of tobacco from a Rembrandt than from any other cigarette. The reason is simply Multivent paper... a thin, thin paper lightened even more by countless tiny air vents. Fresh air is allowed to cool the smoke naturally, with every puff you draw. You get less paper and a cooler smoke... which automatically means more real tobacco flavour. It stands to reason: If you enjoy good tobacco... you'll get more tobacco flavour in a Rembrandt.

Multivent's the reason for Rembrandt's cleaner flavour!

The Newest Wonder

THE struggle for space mastery is perhaps the most spectacular phase of the intense rivalry between Russia and the United States. And the Soviet Union seems to keep just one jump ahead. Strive as it does and with unremitting dedication America follows on closely, but behind.

Ever since Russia blazed the way with the first sputnik it has managed to produce some new and unexpected achievement.

Its latest and amazing venture, the projection towards Venus, 30,000,000 miles away, of a rocket ship released from an earth satellite orbiting the globe, is evidence afresh of its successful scientific progress. Plainly this indicates anew that the Soviets have propellant and guidance agencies of a power and quality as yet unknown to the West.

These space experiments aim to unlock the secrets of the universe and probe the planetary system, in pursuit of long-held scientific yearning to explore and explain the heavens. It is in this vein that the director of Britain's famous Jodrell Bank can term the Venus exploit "fantastic" and wish the Soviet experimenters good luck.

That is the mind of pure science talking and were this all nothing but wonder and admiration would attend each new breaching of the solar spaces. It is the use to which science may be put in the interests of military supremacy, however, which alarms the layman. Already it is being pointed out that if an earth satellite—in a few short years an everyday happening—can aim and fire a rocket with exactitude at Venus it should be an easy matter to hit any desired spot on earth.

The interplanetary vehicle may not reach Venus or strike it directly. That remains to be seen. Even so the portents are disturbing.

Next in line, and possibly while the Venus rocket is still en route to its projected destination, will come the first human space traveller for whom such feverish preparations are being made by both the U.S.S.R. and the U.S.A. The Venus shot is astounding but the propaganda value of the first spaceman is even more immense. One hopes America manages to get there first, not alone for the credit but in tribute to the efforts being made across the line to match the Soviet Union in its space achievements.

Given a Stone

THE municipalities are understandably apprehensive of harmful results to them from the British Columbia government's new policy with respect to property assessments for school tax purposes. Unless there are other changes of school revenue policy yet to be disclosed, it is difficult to see how urban residential property can escape an extra burden of taxation next year.

The trouble foreseen for municipal ratepayers lies in the system of apportioning the costs of education between the province and the cities and districts.

In the case of taxation for general purposes the impact of the new assessment policy over any municipality as a whole should be nil. Provided the same or approximately the same amount of money is required, there should be no increase in the levy because an increase in assessments makes possible a decrease in mill rates. High assessments and low tax rates or low assessments and high tax rates ordinarily balance out in the tax bills.

Where school costs enter the picture the situation is altogether different, however. School grants from the province are applicable to whatever money is required after the municipalities have levied a basic school tax on property assessment rolls of 12 mills.

It follows that this 12-mill levy when based on higher assessments will produce more money in proportion to the assessment difference. In other words, with higher assessments the municipalities will have to raise more money for education, the provincial government less.

It may be that, as Premier Bennett's budget suggests all through the piece, the government is running into financial difficulties. But surely if the provincial government is in trouble the municipalities are even more so—the city of Victoria most of all, with its heavy burden of tax-exempt provincial properties.

Over the years the municipalities have repeatedly pleaded with the government for some relief from the crushing weight of local school taxes, which are forcing them to neglect other essential services because the schools have first call on the public purse. Unless the government intends to lower the basic 12-mill municipal contribution to around 10 mills their position next year can only be worse rather than better. Small wonder that they are anxious.

Congo Action Needed

BY HIS death, former Congolese premier Patrice Lumumba may well have accomplished more for the eventual benefit of his unfortunate countrymen than he ever intended during his lifetime.

His mercurial rise and fall on the national and world political scene, his imprisonment, torture and eventual murder cannot help but place in sharp focus the ineffectiveness of present measures being taken to establish law and order in the Congo.

For months the United Nations force has been harried and hampered by the play of international politics. National and ideological ambitions have been allowed to completely obscure the main purpose of the force while the sufferings of the Congolese people continue, ignored one moment and exploited the next by unscrupulous power-seekers.

If the UN force has been waiting for the word to move—now is the time for it to be given. No longer can it, as a representative unit of the world's senior parliament subscribing to the highest humanitarian ideals, be allowed to stand idle witness to a backward race of people committing fratricide in the name of freedom.

The time has come for every member of the United Nations General Assembly to support an immediate reversal of the present policy which prevents the UN force interfering in the internal affairs of the Congo. Not only must the UN interfere, it must, in the name of humanity, take over control of the country.

If the force fails to take action and continues on its present ineffectual course, any justification for it remaining in the Congo falls away.

Interpreting the News

Marshal Tito and Africa

By ALAN HARVEY, Canadian Press Staff Writer

MARSHAL Tito's forthcoming state visit to Africa is in line with Yugoslavia's efforts to win friends among the uncommitted countries.

As a country that specializes in "communism with a difference," Tito's rugged republic has to tread a cautious path between orthodox Communist countries, which criticize its decentralization, and a Western world which still isn't sure how much trust can be reposed in the new Yugoslav.

Thus, not feeling completely at home in either camp, Yugoslavia has been cultivating the smaller independent countries of Africa and Asia.

In the last few years, Tito's treasury has expended more than $100,000,000 in loans and credits to countries such as India, Indonesia, Ceylon, Ethiopia, Sudan and United Arab Republic. Some Yugoslav technicians have been sent to underdeveloped nations and some students have come from Africa and Asia to train in Yugoslavia.

It seems almost certain that Tito, unquestionably one of the great leaders of the age, will help to consolidate Yugoslavia's growing reputation in Africa.

Tito is 68 and slightly withdrawn from state affairs, but he seems to retain much of the vigor that enabled him to lead the Germans a merry dance during the strenuous days of the Second World War.

Though his apparent unwillingness to grant interviews has tended to keep his name out of day-to-day news, he always makes an outstanding impression in personal contacts. Sir Fikriy Maclean, in his book Eastern Approaches, writes with evident affection of the partisan leader at whose side he often served.

Throughout Maclean stresses Tito's independence of mind, unexpected in a man long trained in Communism and his complete lack of servility. The author adds:

"There were many unexpected things about Tito; his surprisingly broad outlook; his never-failing sense of humor; his unashamed delight in the minor pleasures of life; a natural diffidence in human relationships, giving way to a natural friendliness; a violent temper, flaring up in sudden rages; a considerable taste and a generosity constantly manifesting themselves in a dozen small ways; a surprising readiness to see two sides of a question."

That was Tito as Maclean, a British liaison officer, knew him in the harrowing days of war. In peacetime, with Yugoslavia's independence peacefully but surely established and a brighter economic future beckoning, the handsome and personable peasant's son from Croatia will surely win equal acclaim in Africa.

"Well, I for one hold very strong views about people who collect tiger skins."

Thinking Aloud In a Divided World

"... of shoes—and ships—and sailing wax—of cabbages and kings"

By TOM TAYLOR

ABSENCE makes the heart grow fonder, as the poet said long ago in a much different context, and so the sight of my desk after a week's vacation offered its own attraction. Man needs must love the thing he works at, another sage once observed, and there is mortal truth in such observation.

Watch an artisan at his craft and see if he does not fondle his tools with affection; were this not so work per se would be unrelieved boredom. People like yours truly are no different. If unlike old firehorses, assuming any of these are left, they do not snort when the bell rings, assuredly their senses quicken when they resume their accustomed devotions.

I was not ill, by the way. Some kindly folk assumed that when I disappeared suddenly there must be untoward reason. Happily this was not so but I appreciate their concern. In fact I was merely, as it were, restoring the tired blood one hears so much about on television. Or at least my relaxation can be so construed. I was gliding myself afresh for future endeavours.

I will confess that one bright morn with the sun shining deceptively I was lured into the garden, even though this is a shocking time of the year to begin playing valet to Mother Earth. She will command my servitude long enough without benefit of such early start. But I pattered around following Mr. Chestnut's advice to keep things tidy, and all unaware that the wind was chillier than I had imagined. I should have worn a wind-breaker, as I discovered later.

My office desk on return was typical of all ilk, beaped with documentary data of various kinds. Including therein were several letters and this will make acknowledgement to their authors, who doubtless deduced anyway that they were lying unopened for some days. Two of these concerned the flag issue which found its way into this space two weeks ago today, precisely. No more need be said on the subject, I think, meanwhile anyway, especially since a certain flag is currently on its way to Venus.

This fantastic, sombre development rather broods over all else and puts individual flags at a discount. Would that Venus were a real lady and her space visitor simply a gentleman, and gentlemanly, caller.

One other letter reminds me, anent my assumption the other day that way back in the beyond someone first thought up letter symbols, then words and on to language, that Genesis affirms that man was made in the image of God and able to name living creatures and talk with his Creator. I am not disputing Adam with him but I fancy nevertheless that Adam had to teach Cain and Abel their ABCs. Babels are not born full-fledged with language, although if they were our school taxes wouldn't be so high.

And the dictionary is a comparatively modern invention, which suggests that language was long groped for in its forming. It still is, as a matter of fact.

Another missive shows concern for my health. In months I have a number of weekly does his best for it, but one or two of my readers indicate by their not infrequent flow of Biblical advice a deep interest in my spiritual welfare. This is slightly disturbing for I must have betrayed my frailties, surely, else I would not need such guidance. Actually I have a Bible close at hand in my desk drawer, and a concordance too, so I should not, really go too far astray.

I am grateful, of course, for this solicitude for my religious education, and not unmindful of it even though a letter full of scarcely anything but Biblical quotations, as sometimes happens, is rather overpowering. So much so, I fear, that the good intent of the letter-writers is lost.

At any rate you can see how stimulating it is to come back to one's desk after one's tired blond has been restored by inaction. Not counting my tentative stabs with a spade, that is.

Kennedy's View of Co-Existence

By RICHARD LOWENTHAL from Paris

PRESIDENT Kennedy's state of the union address is still being studied in the chancelleries of the world for more direct clues to the new administration's intentions in world affairs.

Those clues are not primarily to be found in references to the concrete critical issues of foreign policy. There was an outspoken pledge of support for United Nations action in the Congo, a harsh sentence or two about Communist tyranny in Cuba, but only the vaguest reference to Laos and none at all to Berlin. On all this, as on the control requirements for a nuclear test ban, the policies of the new team are clearly still in process of formation.

Yet the speech did contain, in my opinion, some clues of the greatest importance in those passages which outlined Mr. Kennedy's doctrine on the terms of co-existence with the Soviet bloc, and his philosophy on the role of armaments and arms control.

First, co-existence with Communism. Mr. Kennedy rejected any illusion that the Soviet Union and China have "yielded their ambitions for world domination," and he alluded to the new program of world Communism adopted at the recent Moscow conference as evidence that the policy of both powers continues to be inspired by ideological hostility to the non-Communist world. But he is not alarmed by this fact in itself, nor does he regard it as an insuperable obstacle to the settlement of particular issues by agreement, or even to co-operation with those antagonists in scientific tasks.

He welcomes peaceful competition, both economic and ideological, with the Soviet system in serene confidence in the superiority of free societies. But he insists that peaceful competition rules out not only aggression, but also "subversion." By this, he clearly does not mean ordinary propaganda—he explicitly admits "competition for the minds of men"—but the support of armed rebellion from outside by diplomacy, money, arms and technical advisers, even if it falls short of direct military intervention.

Here is the sharp edge of the distinction between what may be called the Kennedy doctrine of peaceful competition, and the Khrushchev-Mao doctrine of "peaceful co-existence" as recently spelled out in Moscow. The Communist doctrine in its latest form explicitly permits, and indeed requires, that all Communist governments give all possible support to revolutionary civil wars and "just wars of liberation."

To Kennedy, this is incompatible with "peaceful competition"—it is "subversion," and the task of American policy is to convince the Soviets that such actions will profit them as little as would open and direct aggression.

To achieve this requires a constructive development policy in the underdeveloped danger areas of the world. It requires the willing use of the United Nations machinery to stop foreign intervention from aggravating internal conflicts there. But it also requires armed and mobile strength of a kind that could be used as a last resort to oppose such intervention locally without immediate risk of nuclear world war.

At this point, Kennedy's concept of the possible forms of the conflict with Communism links up with his concept of the type of armaments needed by the United States—and of the possible scope for limitation and control of armaments.

The new president has announced that his defence policy will only be determined after a thorough review of America's strategic and technical position. Yet in fact his two emergency measures show quite plainly in which direction his mind is turning for broad political reasons. One is the order speedily to increase the airlift capacity of the U.S., so as to improve the ability of their conventional forces to respond quickly to the threat of limited wars in any part of the globe—in other words, to discourage "subversion" without risk of general nuclear war. The other is to speed up in the building of Polaris submarines, the one invulnerable, mobile deterrent to nuclear attack, coupled with the assurance that his fleet "will never attack first."

This, too, implies a major policy decision. Submarine-borne Polaris is a natural weapon of retaliation; in sufficient numbers, it can inflict overwhelming damage on an aggressor however terrible his own first surprise blow may have been, but it would be little use for a surprise blow of its own against enemy missile sites. It is also a self-stabilizing weapon; there can be enough Polaris missiles for effective deterrence, fairly independent of what the other side does. Once both sides have enough, both can feel reasonably safe against long-range nuclear attack without continuing the race.

Conversely, any attempt to have enough well-aimed and well-protected static missiles to be able to destroy all corresponding enemy missiles by a surprise blow must necessarily lead to an endless race to have even more, bigger and heavier protected missiles and even more precise intelligence on those of the enemy.

The dispute between these two concepts of missile strategy—the dream of the annihilating pre-emptive strike and the limited aim of deterrence by retaliatory capacity—has long raged inside the American armed forces. Mr. Kennedy's order for a priority speed-up of Polaris shows that he inclines toward limited deterrence.

The Thin Case

Victim of Injustice?

By CANNANDRA, from London

THREE years ago yesterday, a BEA Elizabethan aircraft crashed at Munich, killing 23 people, including many members of the Manchester United football team.

The surviving pilot, Captain James Thain, was later found guilty of negligence and dismissed.

The main charge against him was that he did not satisfy himself that the wings were free of ice. The second, and comparatively trivial, charge was that he was sitting in the right-hand seat of the cockpit instead of the left.

Three years after this tragic affair the Ministry of Aviation has published a most significant document on take-off in icy, snowy and slushy conditions—which were exactly those which prevailed when Captain Thain's Elizabethan failed to get off the ground on the far end of the Munich runway.

The Civil Aviation Information Circular No. 8 says that the Elizabethan-type aircraft, in which so many deaths took place in 1958, requires 40 per cent more runway in which to take off in half an inch of slush than on a dry runway.

No other of the 16 aircraft types tested needs such a hugely increased margin of safety.

It is the only aircraft in which the plane should be by far the most dangerous in the snow.

None of this was laid down before for the simple reason that no one had taken the trouble to find out.

It looks to me and also to the 750 members of the British Air Line Pilots' Association who know a darn sight more about it than I do that Captain Thain may have been the victim of a grave and intolerable injustice.

He may have been sacked in terrible circumstances for actions which, had not the slightest contribution towards the death of 23 men.

The Last Bastion

THE last bastion has fallen. The one general of distinction who has held his peace about what he did in the war that began over 21 years ago, has finally succumbed and slithered into print.

Field Marshal Alexander joins the military chatteringboxes, although the stuffy announcement expresses it rather differently:

"Till now he has kept silent, holding aloof from the fierce controversies arising out of the memoirs of the great Allied commanders. Now he has decided to allow his testimony to go on record, for without it (although he would modestly disclaim the suggestion) the history of the war would be incomplete."

Now we'll have it all over again. What he thinks of Churchill. What he thinks of Montgomery. What he thinks of Auchinleck.

The 1939-45 war has been called Hitler's War, but the Big Brass have made a takeover bid to have it go down in history as the Scribing Generals' War.

Pink for a Boy

THE prime minister, in a somewhat skittish mood, was the other day credited with the sentiment, "Exporting is fun." He went on to say that the Germans had a word for it (they always do)—"Exportfreudigkeit".

It means "Export-Joy".

Another phrase they had was "Kraft Durch Freude"—"Strength Through Joy" which, in the end, turned out to be the happiness of murderous bullies.

I suspect, however, that "Exporting is fun" is not quite so merry a business, and I wonder whether the harassed employees of the Manchester Commercial Library would agree about all this jolly lark of overseas trade. According to the Board of Trade Journal, they were recently asked:

"How does one toast one's host in Finland?"

"What are the standard sizes of girls' coats in Denmark?"

"How do you send Christmas greetings in Swedish?"

"Is it plik for a boy in Belgium?"

On a wet afternoon in Manchester, after a hard day's working on the balance of payments for Sarawak, it must be uncommonly difficult to be asked whether it is "Plik for a boy in Belgium."

The Packsack

OF GREGORY CLARK

THE greatest weapon used in intimidation is not a pistol or a black-jack or a heavy fist. It is common sense.

People gifted with "common sense" intimidate more people around them than all the armed thugs put together. Sometimes the area of intimidation is only the family circle. Sometimes it is a larger area like a business employing 500 people. A person born with common sense can intimidate a whole great organization like a railroad employing 10,000 or a trades union with 50,000 members. Even a political party of a million or a nation of many millions can be intimidated by a man or sometimes a woman endowed with this most powerful of all the implements of persuasion.

One sees in the faces of a crowd a gift is shown with the phosgene forms of all who come within reach. Sometimes they are hostile because they are merely howling-lyow. Others are hostile because they have dared to dispute. But in disputes, whether in a family circle, a group of friends, a business or a whole community, the lucky one gifted with common sense slowly but surely demonstrates his lethal talent. Usually he ends up on top of the heap; unless, of course, the family or his colleagues or the community rise up and hang him to a lamp post. Common sense can be the most infuriating of traits in others.

50.8-Cent Gasoline

In recent reports about gasoline tax it has been assumed that a 3-cent increase in tax will mean a 3-cent increase in the price to the purchaser. This is not so. If service stations are to maintain the percentage gross profit assumed by the department of internal revenue as a minimum (if their operating statements show a smaller percentage profit it is assumed they are swindling and are assessed more income tax) it will mean that the price of premium gasoline must rise to 50.8 cents per gallon.

I understand that a great many pumps will not calculate above 49.9 cents per gallon. So just what is the service station operator to do, harried as he is by the federal government on the one hand and the provincial government on the other?

The small operator who owns his own station and pumps (and there are quite a number of these) will have little alternative but to go out of business at a considerable capital loss.

Inherent Goodness

I wish to express my warmest thanks to the ladies who apprised them of my situation and to the gentlemen who took pains to assist me out of the hole in the street into which I had fallen on Saturday night last. Also a word of gratitude to the police who kindly drove me home afterwards.

It is inspiring to think that there is still so much inherent goodness in humanity that it impels people to fly to the aid of any fellow-being seen in distress.

Fortunately in my case the injury was negligible; but I would suggest that in future some bar or light should be so placed to prevent others from falling into such a bear pit.

Seattle Symphony Visit

It is gratifying to read in the Colonist of Feb. 11 that the board of directors of Victoria Symphony Society is making plans to stir up the interest of the citizens of the southern part of Vancouver Island in the coming visit of the Seattle Symphony Orchestra.

In recent years the Victoria Symphony Orchestra has given Victoria much publicity through western Canada and along the Pacific Coast with the concerts held at the Butchart Gardens in the tourist season, apart from the symphony concerts held during the winter months. Therefore, they deserve the fullest co-operation from all municipalities and other public organizations to make this coming event an outstanding success.

The letter written by Coun. Elworthy on disagreement with Reeve George Murdoch regarding why Oak Bay should not be controlled by radar or any other method possible. Of course all good drivers live in Oak Bay; one has seen that when driving on the roads. The police should be given every possible method of catching the speeder, also the slowpoke, who are a menace on our roads.

Protection for the Aged

I have been reading so much in the local papers about auto accidents and especially recently about the elderly gentleman who was killed one rainy evening. I had the thought during "White Cane Week" why couldn't the idea of white canes for the blind be extended to include all old age pensioners, men and women?

The idea could be extended still further: that if an old-age pensioner is unable to apply for either a white cane or still better a sturdy all white umbrella which could be used both as a walking stick and a much needed umbrella with the many showers in most places in B.C., surely the cost would be well worthwhile with the fewer accidents and deaths. Certainly with the very low monthly payments of $55 most pensioners cannot afford to buy white clothing for twilight and after dark.

'Racketeers' Lose Jail Grip

Names in the News

MONTREAL — "Prison racketeers" who resent having control wrested away by new prison officials have been blamed by Justice Minister Fulton for trouble in St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary.

Most of the 1,260 prisoners are in the fifth day of a hunger strike, refusing everything but bread and coffee.

A crackdown on barbiturates and violence has reduced trouble but not ended it, said Mr. Fulton. "Prisoners who were racketeers on the outside tend to try to gain control inside."

TORONTO — Canadian globetrotter Alan Stollery, 25, says the word Canadian means nothing to most people. "For like one guy I met in Africa, they think it's next to Iceland in the North Sea."

OTTAWA, Ill. — Chester (Rocky) Weger, 21, accused cave killer of Starved Rock Park, won a courtroom victory when a judge refused to let photographs of three murdered women be admitted as evidence.

MONTREAL C.A.L. — Members of the Unemployment Insurance Commission indicated contributions to the unemployment insurance fund soon may be increased.

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy congratulated Premier Khrushchev on the "impressive scientific achievement" in launching a space shot at Vnovo.

LONDON — The Daily Mail apologized to Elizabeth Taylor and agreed to pay her a "substantial sum" for saying the movie Cleopatra had to be postponed because she was too plump.

NEW YORK — The Metropolitan Museum of Art acknowledged a forgery in its collection. Director James Borimer said three famous Etruscan terra-cotta warrior figures are fakes.

NEW YORK — Contractor Mike Mellon, 60, who ignored 187 traffic tickets over 10 years, was fined $9,550 and sentenced to 185 days in the workhouse.

ANSBACH, Germany — Former concentration camp commandant Kurt Drieschewski, 57, pleaded innocent to charges of killing 297 prisoners in freezing "death baths" and other tortures.

OTTAWA — Prime Minister Diefenbaker received a Valentine from the 68,000-member Progressive Conservative Women's Association of Canada. It read: "You are our Valentine."

OLNEY, England — Shopgirl Carole Vorley, 19, won the Olney pancake day race with a time of one minute, 14 seconds, her second straight victory.

OTTAWA — Trade Minister Hees declined comment on former U.S. defence secretary Neil McElroy's suggestion that Canada and the U.S. explore creation of a North American common market.

NEW YORK — Brig.-Gen. John Grombach of the U.S. Olympic committee admitted hiring London detectives to investigate Lord David Burghley, 56, amateur athletics official who brought Red China into the Olympics, to see if the peer benefitted from trade links with China.

Interpol Tracks Dope Kingpin

MARSEILLES (UPI) — Scores of Riviera police are reported closing in on the mastermind of a vast drug ring channelling narcotics to the U.S. and Canadian markets.

The French and Interpol narcotics squads were directing a swoop extending from this port city to the Italian frontier.

Police believed it might lead to the greatest coup in the long postwar struggle against Riviera rings who have made millions transshipping drugs from the Middle East.

The arrest last week in a Riviera pine wood of Parisian Robert Lecoat, 54, put police hot on the trail of the mastermind.

Crackdown stemmed from the arrest last fall of Auguste Reppin, proprietor of a small hotel in suburban Paris.

Police believed it might lead to the greatest coup in the long postwar struggle against Riviera rings who have made

Lower Pay, Firms Ask Carpenters

VANCOUVER (CP) — B.C. carpenters are seeking a seven-hour day plus a wage increase in contract negotiations.

However, the employers have warned they cannot afford increases this year and are proposing a lower pay scale for interior areas to conform with local rates.

Negotiations begin this week. The carpenters are asking for an increase of 21 cents an hour on the present B.C. rate of $2.92 an hour.

An address found on Reppin's led to French textile magnate Etienne Tarditti and Maurice Rosal, then Guatemalan ambassador to Belgium. When they were caught with 112 pounds of heroin, police also caught trans-Atlantic airline steward Charles Bourdonnais. He steered them to Gilbert Coscia in Montreal, another supplier of drugs to the U.S. and Coscia gave the tip on Lecoat.

There was all-round agreement among the critics that ABC had done an exemplary job of recording British history—apart from the re-enactments.

What got the critics' goat was the brief appearance in the role of a London Cockney mom of British character actress Rita Webb, who breathed defiance about the wartime blitz with typical Cockney phlegm.

The BBC reported it attracted a huge audience. At the end of the 25-minute program, the studio was inundated by congratulatory calls from viewers.

One of Sir Thomas Beecham's idiosyncracies was humming while conducting an orchestra, and on numerous broadcasts his vocal sounds were clearly heard from coast to coast.

The testy-tempered Briton glared at him. "Dammit, somebody has to sing around here!"

Cathedral Echoes To Dixieland Six

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Singleton Palmer and his Dixieland Six played Christ Church Cathedral in St. Louis Sunday night and drew mixed reviews from a packed house of 1,300.

One woman said: "I was filled with joy and religion" after hearing Palmer's combo perform standard hymns and spirituals with a jazz beat in the Episcopal cathedral.

An equal and opposite reaction was registered by another woman. "I'm tolerant enough to hear 'The Old Rugged Cross' played that way only once," she commented.

Palmer and his blue-suited sextet held forth for about 35 minutes with jazz renditions of such religious songs as "Rock of Ages," "Go Down Moses," "Joshua Fit the Battle of Jericho," and "When the Roll Is Called Up Yonder," in addition to "The Old Rugged Cross."

B.C. Telephone Teletype belongs in your business world

B.C. Telephone Teletype is the jack-of-all-trades communications system that combines the speed and privacy of a telephone line with the permanency of the typewritten message.

You're not handcuffed to any form or length of message. You can Teletype letters, memos, sales orders, invoices, cheques, business forms ... all kinds of data ... in the twinkling of an eye. It gives you up to 8 carbon copies, so there's never any doubt about what is said or decided.

We can link Teletype with one party or several. There's no limit. Whether your business operates in one city or across the continent, B.C. Telephone Teletype will pay for itself by saving you time and money. Chances are you'll wonder how you got along without it!

Teletype transmits at the speed of light. Messages "hot off the wire" have assisted many a firm to beat its competitors to the punch.

Think of what it can do for you. Many of British Columbia's firms, such as airlines, sawmills and distribution companies use Teletype as the nerve centre of inter-office communications.

Whatever the nature of your business—whatever its size—B.C. Telephone Teletype has an important part to play. No capital outlay is required. The service is leased from us and maintained by us. All you do is pay the rent and reap the reward.

Why not let our representative study your present communications system? He'll assess your needs, recommend the most efficient model and the best hours of operation for your Teletype system. He'll be seeing you soon ... sooner if you make an appointment through our new Marketing and Sales Department now.

Like to know more about Teletype? Have your secretary give us a call. In Vancouver it's MU 3-5511. Outside Vancouver, ask the operator for Zenith 7000. (No charge for the call.) We'll send our Teletype literature faster than you can say "B.C. TEL."

By Red Smith

Will Yolen came out of a snow bank and said it was perfect weather for flying kites, actually the peak of the season right now—in India. "In fact," he said, "I think it was just a year ago today I flew against the Maharajah of Bharatpur on the lawn of his hunting palace in the jungle."

Will Yolen, of New Rochelle, is the world's greatest kite flyer, possessor of a finer kite collection than the one in the Smithsonian Institute, captain of a six-man team which stands ready to fly against any challengers on this planet or off it. He is a public relations man, fiftyish, stands five feet five, weighs 141 pounds, and closes his eyes when he talks.

"I've got one kite measures 12x12," he said, "144 square feet. Takes six men to handle it. If I tried to fly it alone it would carry me clear across Long Island to what's after Long Island?—England. We can put up more stuff than Russia, you know."

"That's very comforting," a luncheon companion said. "Does Kennedy know this?"

"Magnificent sport," Will said, closing his eyes. "Very ancient, and talk about tradition! There's a record of a Chinese emperor held prisoner in a high tower 5,000 years ago who escaped on a kite flown up to his window. But about that trip to India.

Really International Field

"Now, I've flown in Virginia and Adamant, Vt., and Copenhagen and Rome and some little plane stop in the Near East. There's no place better for flying kites than an airport, though I suppose maybe they'd pick up an unidentified flying object on the radar sometimes. In 1957 I won the championship of the Western Hemisphere in Nassau against, I think, a gentleman from South Africa, two Englishmen, a Chinaman from Formosa—that kind of field. But I'd always read about the great kite flyers of India.

"There were these four guys needed a fifth to fill out a tiger hunt. I'm more a kite flyer than a hunter, but I joined up. Took a battery of kites, rigid, non-rigid, box kite, falcon kites. You know Calcutta? No? Well, there's what they call the Red Fort and a great open space in front of it where they fly kites.

"They furnished me a car and a guide. I'm secretary of the Overseas Press Club and they thought that was government, and besides I had the championship cap from Nassau, a yachting cap with an anchor and all, very impressive. There must've been hundreds of kids watching when I broke out a non-rigid kite.

"I don't run to put a kite up. Too old. I use a rod and reel, either a fly rod or a casting rod. I whip the kite around and around letting it pick up more line until I catch an updraft. I can let out 300, 400 feet and keep the kite low, just above the ground, then send it up like a rocket.

Terrific for Prestige

"I really had that kite dancing, doing loops and figure-eights and everything. The kids were whooping. It was ecstasy, greatest thing for international relations, terrific for American prestige. What I didn't know, this stinker with me was not only a guide, he was a dirty kite flyer and he couldn't stand my success. He sneaked out a kite of his own.

"Over here the game is pure skill. It's not a body contact sport but in India they fight kites. They use a sort of glazed string, we don't have anything like it, and if they can cross your string and cut you down, they get to keep your kite. Their kite is rigid, with a curved sort of yoke. It climbs in a series of jerks and saws your string in two.

"This sneak came around my blind side, and it was just like Bednarik hitting Frank Gifford. My kite flew away. Judas, the humiliation! This cheap hum, he cared more about getting my kite than he did about international relations.

"Rules or no rules, I hadn't been warned about playing for keeps and I wasn't holding still for it. Neither were the kids. For the first time in the history of India, they wouldn't let the guy have his kite. They chased my kite down and he was hollering it belonged to him, but they passed it from hand to hand and hid it under their shirts and finally got it back to me.

"They pulled my car door open and I jumped in and rode off with the kids cheering, 'Viva la Americana!' or whatever they yell. Worst disgrace of my career."

"But, Will, you said the Maharajah of—"

"That comes later," Will said. "First we had to go hunt those lousy tigers and leopards. We'd got reports about a man-eater in the jungle. I had a candidate for him, but I never did see that phony kite-flying guide again."

(To be continued.)

Speaking Briefly

Canadian-Style Hockey Draws Fans in Moscow

It may not be popular in one sense but Canadian-style hockey does bring out the European fans, particularly in Russia.

There were more than 12,000 on hand yesterday in Moscow, where Trail Smoke Eaters handed the Russian Juniors (under 23) a 4-1 setback. On Monday, when a Swiss team played in Moscow, the crowd numbered 8,000.

Yesterday's game was not as rough as the 33 tie played on Sunday but fans, disliking the Trail bodychecking, hollered down the Smoke Eaters throughout the game. There was one fight, in the second period.

After the game, the Soviet news agency, Tass, commented that the Smoke Eaters had "finally shown some of their bite."

Tass also commented that "in the opinion of many specialists the Trail team had deliberately played below its ability in the first two games."

Don Fletcher had Trail ahead by 20 after eight minutes of play. The second period was scoreless. Then Harry Smith made it 3-0 before Russia got its goal. Dave Russell completed the scoring.

Smoke Eaters, who will represent Canada in the "world" amateur champion-ship month, have won six and tied one of nine games played to date.

Dry Prairie Winter Duck Crop Threat

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. government has had news for duck hunters. It said if dry weather conditions continue in major nesting areas, the 1961 wild duck crop will be seriously affected.

"Unless there are unusual snows and above-normal rains in the prairie regions in the northern United States and southern Canada between now and the middle of May, North America's waterfowl resources will be in the most precarious position in the past three decades."

The interior department said Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba are all regarded as dry, but the main moisture deficiency is in Saskatchewan.

Bobo Olson 'Joins' Army

Carl "Bobo" Olson drew about 300 fans to workout yesterday at Work Point barracks gym, including Pte. Emile Laroche, left, who tries hat on light-heavyweight. # Olson Feels He Has Good Chance To Climb Back Up Fistic Ladder

By JIM TANG

Carl "Bobo" Olson will be 33 years old next July 11; it's a bit more than five years since he was shorn of his world middleweight championship by Ray Robinson, and he's ranked either No. 8 or No. 9 among the light-heavyweight contenders, but the Hawaii-born ring veteran still believes he can earn another title chance. He'll be working toward that goal at Memorial Arena tomorrow night when he goes against Floyd Buchanan, a 25-year-old Los Angeles fighter, in the 10-round feature event of what appears to be a stand-out professional fight card arranged for promoter Bert Smith by matchmaker Matty Morrell.

Olson has compiled an impressive record in the years since he fought professionally for the first time in San Francisco more than 15 years ago. He held the middleweight championship from Oct. 21, 1953, until Dec. 9, 1955; fought for the light-heavyweight title in 1955, and has traded blows with many of the best in both divisions.

According to the Ring Record Book, Olson had fought 79 times as a professional by the end of 1959. The record shows he won 69 times, 33 times by a knockout, and been beaten 10 times, five times taking the count.

THE GREATEST

It is not without reason that Olson will tell you that Robinson is the greatest fighter of all time. He met Sugar Ray four times, and Robinson was the winner each time.

Their first meeting came in 1950 at Philadelphia and it was for the Pennsylvania middleweight championship. Robinson, then world welterweight champion, knocked Olson out in the 12th round.

FIRST TIME

Robinson went on to win the middleweight title for the first time by knocking out Jake LaMotta early in 1951. Later that year, Robinson lost to Randy Turpin and then regained the title in a return match.

Robinson's next defence was against Olson, in 1952. That one went the distance, Robinson getting a 15-round decision.

ALL THE WAY

Then Robinson retired and Olson made it all the way to the top on Oct. 21, 1953, when he beat Turpin for the vacated title.

But Olson wasn't through with Robinson, who ended his retirement in 1955 and got another chance to win the middleweight title on Dec. 9 that year. He knocked Olson out in the second round and on May 18, in the third world title fight between the two, retained his championship by stopping Olson in the fourth round.

BUT OPPONENTS

Between them, Robinson and Dave Sanda, the Australian bantamweight who was British Empire champion, account for half of Olson's 10 defeats. Sanda defeated Olson twice. Two of Olson's other defeats were by decisions early in his career and the other two were knockouts, inflicted by Moore and a boxer named to star in the light-heavyweight for the first time and by Pat McCurtrey, a full-fledged heavyweight.

BEAT THE BEST

Olson's victims, however, include many champions and near champions. Among them are Robert Villmain, one-time French champion, Gene Harrison, Garth Panter, Paddy Young, Turpin, Kid Gavilan, Rocky Castellani, Pierre Langlois, Tiger Jones, Joey Maxim, Joey Giambra, Paddy Young and Rory Calhoun.

Olson retired on Oct. 3, 1955, but was back in action again by June of 1957, defeating Maxim for the second time as a starter on his comeback campaign. Since then, he has beaten Young and Calhoun and last year went to South Africa to whip Mike Holt, British Empire light-heavyweight titleholder.

Although realizing that time is not on his side, Olson feels that he can earn another chance at the light-heavyweight title.

"I'm willing to meet anyone," he says, telling of hopes to arrange a bout with either contender Doug Jones or Willie Pastrano, one-time heavyweight contender now fighting as a light-heavyweight.

He should add another victory tomorrow night, but Buchanan, although not a flinching boxer, poses a threat in that he has the punching ability to end matters suddenly.

Supporting bouts will display heavyweights, lightweights, middleweights and welterweights. Two will be eight-rounders and two will be four-rounders, giving a scheduled 38 rounds of fighting.

Floyd Palmer, a Portland heavyweight with a growing knockout string, tangles with Franklin Haynes of Los Angeles in one of the eight-rounders.

Joey Lopez, a Seattle light-heavyweight who fought Bobby Hicks here on the same card which featured the appearance of Archie Moore, meets Jimmy "Bang Bang" Walker of Portland in the other eight-rounders.

Four-round openers match middleweights Ernie Gipson of Seattle and Al Alexander and welterweights Junior McCoombe, a city resident, formerly from London, Ont., and Sonny Horn of Seattle.

Nanaimo Ladies Force Tie In Provincial Curling Final

TRAIL—Marg Fuller of Nanaimo, supported by two of the three players who helped her win the Canadian women's curling championship in 1957, Tuesday night forced a three-way tie for the lead in the B.C. final by handing Joy Mitchell's Kitimat rink its first defeat, 12-8.

Result left Mrs. Fuller tied with Mrs. Mitchell and Mrs. Hansen, Kimberley's annual challenger. All have 5-1 records in the round-robin series between 11 zone champions which concludes on Thursday.

The favored Nanaimo rink came a cropper against Catherine Wright of Vancouver in the first of Tuesday's three draws, losing, 10-8.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Mitchell marked time on the first draw, then trimmed Agnes McMorran of Kamloops, 12-8, and Jean Kwasnecha of Whitehorse, 9-8, to boost her record to 5-0.

Mrs. Fuller stayed with a 17-5 trouncing of Edna Dagg's Pentikent rink and an 11-7 win over Colleen Smallenberg of Williams Lake.

Mrs. Hansen, upset, 9-8, by Lil Bolton of Cloverdale in her second game on Monday, scored three wins on Tuesday. She bested Marg Cooke, of Vancouver, 11-8, beat Mrs. McMorran, 14-6, and Mrs. Smallenberg, 12-8.

Closest to the top three is Mrs. Wright, who has won five and lost two. Mrs. Cooke, Mrs. Bolton and Mrs. Kwasnecha are all 3-4. Mrs. Smallenberg and Mary Jones of Trail are 2-4 and Mrs. McMorran and Mrs. Dagg are 1-5.

Mrs. Hansen has games left against both Mrs. Fuller and Mrs. Mitchell, meeting the latter in Wednesday's first draw. The Kimberley veteran also has to play Mrs. Wright and Mrs. Kwasnecha before completing her schedule.

Mrs. Fuller has games left against Mrs. McMorran, Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Bolton in addition to Mrs. Hansen. And Mrs. Mitchell has to play Mrs. Cooke, Mrs. Dagg and Mrs. Smallenberg in addition to Mrs. Hansen.

Vancouver Police Win

KELOWNA (CP)—J. D. McDougall's Vancouver city police rink trounced New Westminster RCMP 16-5 here Tuesday night to capture the British Columbia police curling championship.

The Vancouver foursome, made up of Bob Falconer, Fred Ellis, Bill Nicols and McDougall, will represent the province later this month in the Dominion curling championships in Ottawa.

Advance Baseball Training Camps Filled with Eager Rookie Prospects

Although opening day is eight weeks off, the baseball season already is with us. Advance camps for exceptional minor leaguers or veterans with a problem, will be operating on five fronts before the week is over.

Detroit was the first to get into action with 60 Tigers, including 19 from the regular league roster, already on the scene in Lakeland, Fla. Bob Scheffing, new manager, is getting his first look at his talent.

The Chicago Cubs, still without a manager, have been having a series of briefing meetings at Mesa, Ariz., for more than a week. The eight coaches and Richie Ashburn, a consultant from the cutfield, are kicking around a host of ideas.

So far, there have been no reports of stabling or gunfire. St. Louis had a delegation of some 32 players at Home Stadium, Sunday for a 16-day run before the regular camp opens at St. Petersburg, Fla. More than half of the men on the Cards' regular roster are taking this early work.

Ralph Houk, Casey Stengel's successor as manager of the New York Yankees, had 28 players out Monday for an advance camp at Miller

Huggins Field in St. Petersburg. Baltimore has asked eight or nine players to report at Mimi Field, five days early. Four of those who have been asked are men who were injured last year and may need extra time to get ready. In that category are Jim Gentile, Pete Ward, Gene Stephens and Barry Shetrone.

For the most part the variety of batteries used in the 14 major league clubs will not report until Feb. 19 or later.

Free Speech Under Par For Twelve

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The assembly defeated a bill Tuesday which would have reduced the minimum age for raffles at golf courses from 14 to 12. Assemblyman Joseph Miller (Dem., Brooklyn) in the only speech on the measure, said children under 14 should not be exposed to the language heard on golf courses.

Lower Island Deer Starving

By ALAN MERRIMAN
Game biologist John Bandy stood over a dead buck yesterday in the laboratory of his Nanaimo office and said, "I wish all those instrumental in a two-day deer season could see this."

The buck, born last June, was skin and bone, loaded with ticks, deer lice and other parasites and filled with tapeworms. It was found on Salt Spring Island and was one of four from one area reported found dead by residents in recent weeks.

ALARMING KILL
Four dead deer in one little area people knew about indicate an alarming kill in that area, he said.

Salt Spring Island and lower Vancouver Island are the areas where sportmen pressure has kept the antlerless season down to two days a year, in spite of the wishes of biologists to have a longer deer season.

"This is the proof. Present harvesting methods will not let the hunter take sufficient deer," Mr. Bandy said. "We must keep the animals in balance with the range. As the range decreases in productivity, we must kill more deer."

He said second growth is now taking over in some of the logged-off areas, providing less food in the undergrowth for the animals.

Where deer are overabundant, they consume the available food at a high rate. The animals go slowly downhill all winter, as less food becomes available.

Then at this time of year, as grass blades and other growth starts to pop out of the ground, high protein food becomes available.

The half-starved deer are not able to digest it. They die with stomachs full of high protein food they can't digest.

Island and lower Vancouver Island are suffering from an overpopulation of deer, but that Campbell River, where there is a longer deer season, is just as badly off because of the vast acreage of maturing forest taking over the formerly good range land.

Thank you Harry Monaghan for helping turn a boo hoo in this column last Friday into a successful fishing trip for some of those who followed faulty information.

Last Friday we went about Deering Bridge, which was out for repairs, as being on the Shawinigan Lake side of the Port Renfrew road. Actually, it is less than a mile east of Port Renfrew.

We advised readers to go the west coast road to Harris Creek steelhead fishing (we should have said Shawinigan Lake Road Saturday morning) and then turn right along an old railway line where the tins have been lifted, for about 10 miles and then over a bridge to Bear Creek area.

It was rough going, but the caravan led by Monaghan eventually reached Harris Creek, where, in one pool, there were about 40 steelhead. Monaghan limited and others had varying success.

The Deering Bridge was expected to be repaired by last night so traffic to Port Renfrew and way points should be normal by next weekend from either Shawinigan Lake, or Jordan River.

The Victoria Outboard Club is busy preparing a schedule for summer cruises. For members who dislike cruising in the rather confining method of single file or group cruising, a new concept in travelling as far as the Victoria club is concerned, will be tried this year.

Greater use of rendezvous points will be used, whereby members will be able to leave when they like, with whom they like, and arrive when they like. Certain cruises will leave at designated times, but speeds will be maintained so that no one boat will be left behind.

Wicketkeeper Chips Wrist, Ties Record

MELBORNE (Reuters) — The injury-crippled Australian cricket team was left needing 201 runs for victory with nine wickets standing at the close of play Tuesday on the fourth day of the final six-day test match against the West Indies.

The West Indies set Australia 258 runs for victory and by the close the home team had made 57 for the loss of one wicket.

But the Australians will be handicapped today by a thigh injury to batsman Neil Harvey and a chipped wrist bone suffered by wicketkeeper Wally Grout. Five other Australians also are injured to lesser degrees.

The test will decide the series between the two countries. Each has won one previous match, one was tied and one ended in a draw.

Grout defied the pain of his wrist to snap up four West Indies batsmen Tuesday and equal the world record number of disposals by a wicketkeeper in a test series.

In catching Wesley Hall, the last man out, he brought his "bag" in the series to 23, equalling the mark held by John Waite of South Africa and the West Indies' Gerry Alexander.

The match swung again Tuesday in Australia's favor when the Aussies claimed the West Indies eight remaining second-innings wickets for 185 runs.

The West Indies would have been in a worse position but for Alexander, who overcame early difficulties to score 73.

City Lawyer Cleared Of Tax Fraud

OTTAWA (CP) — The income tax appeal board yesterday cleared Victoria lawyer E. H. M. Foot, 78, of a tax fraud allegation which it said was made by the revenue department as "a mere afterthought" to make up for delayed reassessment.

At the same time the board chastised Mr. Foot for being "lardy and seemingly indifferent" about filing his returns, said he tried the patience of the tax collectors, and suggested that "a more conformable course" is expected from a lawyer.

In June, 1958, the revenue department added $46,754 to Mr. Foot's declared income for the five years 1947 to 1951 inclusive. The department sought to justify the breach of what then was a six-year statutory limitation on reassessment by alleging that Mr. Foot misrepresented his income, the board said.

After Mr. Foot filed his returns the income tax assessors said the figures were "quite unsatisfactory" and suggested he hire an accountant. Mr. Foot did.

The accountant spent two years on Mr. Foot's books and raised his declared income for the five years to $71,924 from the original $46,968.

A government assessor went over the books again and raised the accountant's income figures by $21,818 to $93,742.

When Jan. 1, 1957, passed, the revenue department could make reassessments only by alleging fraud—in which case the limit doesn't apply. The use of this income tax provision "savours much of mere afterthought," the board said.

Woman Admits Seventh Charge

Maureen Missalen, 21, of Vancouver, who pleaded guilty in city police court Monday to six charges of passing forged cheques and one of attempting to pass a forged cheque, yesterday pleaded guilty to a similar offence in Saanich court.

The young woman admitted obtaining $168.61 in cash from the Shop-Easy Store at 30 Burnside West, last Friday. Cheque used was one of 64 stolen previously from a Vancouver insurance company.

Accused was remanded to Tuesday for sentence.

In city court yesterday Ben Powell, 18, of 322 Beckley, pleaded guilty to being a minor in possession of liquor. He was fined $20.

Powell said police was found in the washroom of a downtown cafe with a glass containing rum which he got "from a man."

***

Also in city court Richard James Parr, 34, recent arrival from the United States, pleaded guilty to a charge of false pretences involving $25 obtained from Eaton's. He was remanded to Friday for probation report and sentence.

This Reducing Plan Really Works

"The Naran Plan is what I have been hoping for. I was just about convinced that I was fat for life when a friend told me about your plan. To my surprise I began to get results at the end of the first week and have been losing ever since. I am sure that I can now keep my weight where I want it." — W. Montgomery, Montreal, P.Q.

Overweight people generally fall into two classes, those who have tried to reduce and failed and those who have never tried at all. You do not have to be in either group. Make up your mind that you are no longer going to suffer the discomfort and embarrassment of being overweight. You are not far from a drug store, walk over and ask for the Naran Plan and begin today to lose weight while eating three meals a day. It is that simple, after you have lost weight you will wonder why you didn't do it sooner.

THIS CONCERNS MONEY

Did you know that a systematic investment programme can be started with limited funds? Through the medium of MUTUAL FUNDS a person with a modest amount of money to spare each month can buy shares of well known and established companies such as Bell Telephone, International Nickel and Imperial Oil.

We recommend to the new investor a Mutual Fund "Growth or Accumulation Plan". Under such a plan you may purchase shares of Canadian Investment Fund, Investors Mutual of Canada, or Investors Growth Fund of Canada, by monthly or periodic payments—in amounts to fit your particular budget.

Each Mutual Fund share you buy gives you an ownership interest in as many as 50 or more selected investment securities. You have as well, the advantages of professional management.

Send the coupon below to any James Richardson & Sons office if you wish to obtain further information on how this method of investing money might benefit you.

Hill Homes Replace Status Cars

SAIT LAKE CITY (AP) — Author Vance Packard, student and critic of American social life, says "mob appeal" buying has changed from cars to homes which are described as the "executive type" and built on top of hills "so the people who live in them can look down on the rest of the community."

Packard said such trends affect the country's morality, leading to "more and more self-gratification and self-love and less and less thought about the needs of others."

Pupil Picks Canada

VANCOUVER (CP) — To 17-year-old William Allan Thomas, one scholarship worth up to $6,000 is not worth one Canadian citizenship.

The Grade 12 student in North Vancouver High School will reject a U.S. national merit scholarship because it would require him to become a United States citizen.

The scholarship, one of 9,800 awarded in the U.S., would entitle him to up to $1,500 a year for four years while he attended a U.S. university.

He wrote the merit examinations while attending high school in Palo Alto, Calif., during the 1959-60 term, unaware he would have to be either an American citizen or have taken out papers saying he intends to become a citizen.

He received notification recently he had been awarded the scholarship but decided he would rather remain a Canadian citizen and attend the University of British Columbia.

HERE'S WHY

British Ford Line Dealers can offer big savings to buyers. Most imported cars have already gone up in price, because of the recently imposed increase in import valuation procedure. But, since Ford of Canada's prices to its dealers have not been increased, the dealers are in a position to sell to you at no increase in price!

This is what the Canadian public and you, as a buyer, would expect—in keeping with Ford of Canada's policy of continuing to hold its price line while models imported prior to the valuation increases are on hand.

That's why you should ACT NOW—BUY NOW—and SAVE! Don't delay... see your Mercury-Meteor-Comet Dealer or your Selected British Ford Line Dealer right away.

Carton Ruling Won by Dairy

Magistrate William Ostler ruled Tuesday that a section of B.C.'s Milk Industry Act is invalid because the province has no authority to legislate in the field of weights and measures.

He subsequently dismissed a charge against Milky Way Dairy Ltd. of using milk cartons not based on the imperial gallon, a standard volume set by the United Kingdom.

There was no immediate indication the judgment would be appealed.

FEDERAL FIELD

Mr. Ostler said that under the British North America Act all legislation involving weights and measures is a federal field. A federal statute has since specified that the standards must be Canadian.

"It is immaterial if the Canadian gallon, specified in the federal act, and the imperial gallon, are approximately the same," he said.

There is nothing to prevent the government of the United Kingdom from changing the imperial standard. It is difficult to see, Mr. Ostler said, how that could be done without doing violence to the Canadian Weights and Measures Act.

Today's Speakers

William Murray (SC—Prince Rupert) will lead off in the budget debate in the legislature at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Other speakers will be David Barrett (CCF—Dewdney), W. F. Jeffcoat (SC—Salmon Arm), John Squire (CCF—Alberni) and Donald Brothers (SC—Rossland-Trail).

Saanich, Oak Bay Chiefs:

Radar Not a Trap It's a Deterrent

At least two Greater Victoria police chiefs think the greatest value of radar on the roads is deterrent effect on speeding.

Both Chief Const. W. A. Pearson of Saanich, where they have radar, and Chief Const. Robert Smith of Oak Bay, where purchase of radar is being considered, offered identical comment yesterday.

"I don't care if we never catch anybody—as long as the knowledge that we have radar makes people drive more safely."

"If it has that effect, Chief Pearson added, "I don't mind if the set never leaves the office. If we have to use it, however, we will."

In Oak Bay purchase of radar for the police department has been approved by the police commission, and goes next to municipal council as a part of the department budget.

Esquimalt, City Shun Car-Clockers

Victoria and Esquimalt police are not likely to be supplied with radar timing devices similar to that used by Saanich police and on order for Oak Bay police.

"It is a lot more important to stop people breaking the law than letting them break it and then catching them," William Hamilton, city police commissioner, said last night. Reeve A. C. Wurtele, chairman of Esquimalt police commission, said it is unlikely that a "radar" speed timer will be bought for the municipality's police.

Both chiefs were emphatic on another point: "We have no intention of using radar for any revenue-producing speed trap."

SPCA Meets On Friday

Annual meeting of the Victoria branch, B.C. Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals will be held Friday at 8 p.m. in Newstead Hall, 734 Fort. Speaker will be T. I. Hughes, Vancouver, executive director of the provincial body.

Trophy for Ace Archer

Needed in Esquimalt?

Reeves Argue Over Court Role

Fact that 28 Esquimalt juveniles appeared in eight months in the Victoria-Saanich-Oak Bay joint juvenile and family court doesn't mean Esquimalt should join, Reeve A. C. Wurtele maintained yesterday.

But Reeve George Chatterton of Saanich, took the opposite view, describing a report by Judge J. A. Byers on the Esquimalt cases as "a very clear indication that for the court to be effective its jurisdiction should be increased to include Esquimalt."

AT REQUEST

Judge Byers made the report at the request of an inter-municipal steering committee.

He said the cases of Esquimalt juveniles appearing in the joint court between June and January included 18 traffic cases, six of possession of liquor, one of wilful damage, three of taking an automobile without the owner's consent, one of rape and one of obstructing a police officer.

SAME AS ALL

"Our kids are the same as all kids," said Reeve Wurtele. "We don't say our youngsters are goody-goody; they're normal boys and we have always maintained that they should be dealt with in a normal way. That's why the chief goes straight to their homes to find what's wrong."

"The fact that that number have been brought up in the joint court in the city doesn't change my outlook at all."

"We would rather deal with them in a personalized way as we do at present."

Said Reeve Chatterton, "I think it's the responsibility of the attorney-general's department to enlarge the court's jurisdiction to include Esquimalt. Here are cases appearing in our court yet I don't know if our officers have the authority to go into Esquimalt for probation and other matters."

Victoria Accountants Hold Meeting Today

A dinner meeting of the Victoria chapter of the Society of Industrial and Cost Accountants will be held at 6 p.m. today at the Pacific Club.

John Woolcock, a chartered accountant and Kenneth Murphy, a lawyer, will speak on incorporation of a limited company.

Who's at End of Brush?

'Mad Painter' Leaves Red-Splotched Trail

By CHARLES THOMPSON

DUNCAN—Police and Cowichan Valley residents are trying to track down the mysterious "Mad Painter."

Within the past 48 hours he has daubed blood-red paint on mailboxes, road signs, gates, fence posts and street signs along a five-mile route in what residents call a "crazy spree."

"It is plain senseless," said Cowichan Station post office manager Clare Coggett.

Police have asked residents to watch their property and report any suspicious persons. It is known the Mad Painter struck after 11 p.m. Monday on Fairbridge, Beach and Filippa Roads and the Trans-Canada Highway. Most of the mysteriously daubed property is owned by farmers.

"It just looks like he started from Duncan and worked his way around east back into town," said Mr. Cornett.

The postmaster said he knows a prime suspect whose name he will turn over to police.

Tropical Fish On Display

A table show of tropical fish will highlight a junior meeting and a general meeting of the Victoria Aquarium Society today at 7:30 p.m. in Norway House.

City Comptroller's Guess for 1961

School Taxes 'As Is'

Victorians may get away with little if any increase in school taxes this year, City Comptroller James Bramley yesterday "guesstimated."

The Greater Victoria school board's $8,325,892 budget is $425,000 higher than last year, and Victoria city's share might be $110,000 higher, Mr. Bramley told city council finance committee, except that teachers have been refused a salary increase and the provincial government will pick up a large part of the bill for an increase in staff.

So, he said, he "wouldn't be surprised at all" if the increase in total assessments on which school taxes are levied takes care of the increase in costs without an increase in the tax-rate.

"But that's just a guesstimate," he said.

The committee, deciding that nothing could be done about the school budget anyway, recommended that council approve it.

Saanich to Remind B.C.

$85,000 Owing For Quadra Work

Highways Minister Gagliardi will be asked by Saanich municipality to push through payment of $85,000 owing as the B.C. share of the Quadra Street widening project.

Reeve George Chatterton said the government declared Quadra a secondary highway on which a 50 per cent grant is available from the province.

$18,000 OWING
On the completed section of the project, from Tolmie to just past Cloverdale, some $18,000 of the B.C. share is still owing, council's public works committee was told last night. The work now in progress as far as Reynolds is being done at a cost of some $134,000.

A letter from the department of highways said there would probably be some delay in payment of the province's share of $67,000 for the work in progress.

FIRM PROMISE
"I suggest we write to Highways Minister Gagliardi and draw his attention to talks held over the past two years on this subject," the reeve said. "We should ask him for a firm promise that the government will pay not only what is owing on the first Quadra project, but its full share of the work now in progress. Our whole street program is being held up because of this delay."

Trucks Lose Red Flashers

Three Victoria wrecker operators were warned by police yesterday to remove red flashing lights from their trucks and replace them with amber flashers.

Complaint of the red flashers was made by Saanich Police Chief W. A. Pearson.

Police checked with the motor vehicle branch then warned Victoria Super Service, Victoria Auto Wreckers and Bill Temple to have the flashers removed.

Education Experts

Chant Report Checked By Panel Here Today

A panel discussion on the Chant report on education to be held at the meeting of the Provincial Council of Women in the Georgian Lounge of the Empress Hotel at 8 p.m. today will be open to the public.

Bert Curtis of the UBC extension department will be chairman and panelists will be B. C. Gillie, principal of S. J. Willis Junior High School, and Dean N. V. Scarfe, dean of the college of education at UBC.

Bowling Alley Robbed of $100

Thieves who broke into Gibson's Bowladrome, 914 Yates, overnight Monday got away with close to $100 in cash.

Police are looking for the thieves.

LITERALLY MINDED: Just what would we do without those little old ladies? The lights at Yates and Douglas, as near everyone knows, have two instructions for pedestrians—"Walk" and "Don't Walk."

The other day the little old lady, according to one of our constabulary, was halfway across when the light switched to "Don't Walk."

Do you know she stopped in her tracks right there—in the middle of the street?

PROPER PROCEDURE:

Bill No. 17, given first reading in the legislature yesterday, is an intriguing document, especially if you have a sense of humor.

There are two sections to "An Act to Repeal the Centennial Celebration Act" and we reproduce them here in their entirety:

"1. This act may be cited as the Centennial Celebration Act Repeal Act."

"2. The Centennial Celebration Act is repealed."

And at the bottom of the

New Prosecutor

Fraud-Fighter Coming to City

By R. O. MARRION

A man who has made an international name for himself fighting to curb "holier-room" stock promotions will be Victoria's new city prosecutor.

He is W. W. Cameron, chairman of the Saskatchewan Securities Commission, former member of the Ontario Securities Commission, and an acknowledged leader in tightening up regulation of stock promotion.

City council will meet today to ratify his appointment, already approved in committee. Acting Mayor Arthur Dowell said last night. He is expected to take his new position April 1.

ADDITIONAL BENEFITS

Mr. Cameron's salary will start at "about $7,000 with additional fringe benefits," the acting mayor said. This figure is considered exceptionally low, in civic and legal circles, for a man of his calibre, but Mr. Cameron is understood to want to live in B.C., to have some private means and to be interested in public service and not private practice.

NEW CONTRACT
Appointment of a new prosecutor became necessary when the city's contract with T. P. O'Grady to provide services of city solicitor and prosecutor expired and a new contract was negotiated under which Mr. O'Grady, supplying his own legal and office help and materials, will provide the full-time services of solicitor only for $22,500 a year.

Mr. Cameron, according to acquaintances, is in his mid-40s, and an active man, interested in hunting and fishing.

Boy Bumped In Car Crash

A 13-year-old boy was taken to hospital after a two-car crash in the 4400 block of Blenkinsop Road during the peak of last night's rain.

John Lundeen, 4411 Blenkinsop, was released from Royal Jubilee Hospital after treatment for a bump on the head.

House Looted Of Cameras

A thief made off with two expensive cameras and other loot valued at $1,500 from a boarding house at 1034 McGregor Avenue yesterday.

Police said the burglary took place between 1:30 and 2:30 p.m. but they had not discovered how entry was gained.

Seen In Passing

Joyce Thompson trying on a new dress. (An office worker at a downtown department store, she lives with her mother, Mrs. Lillian Thompson, at 1012 Tillicum Road. Her hobbies are music, ceramics and dancing.) Deney Boche pushing his stalled car to a start for wife, Molly, getting his watch caught on the bumper and going for a short, nasty and undesired ride. . . . Mo Allen making arrangements for pictures. . . . Teg Jones talking about a meeting he attended. . . . Frank Greensmith hunting bargains.

Letter-of-Law Walker Halts Mid-Intersection

Peter Bruton's Capital Notebook

Point Grey, Mrs. Lola Hagen (CCF—Grand Forks-Greenwood) and Mrs. Camille Mather (CCF—Delta) each got up yesterday to praise Premier Bennett.

The reason: He presented each with a vase of red and white flowers—as a Valentine's gift.

FLYING HIGH: Someone has started a rumor that Cecil Holms will make a last minute withdrawal from the contest for the Conservative party nomination in the Esquimalt-Saanich byelection.

Just isn't so, says Mr. Holms, who dropped off some information about his colorful career. Seems that in 1929 he was in Mexico flying as an air mail pilot between the Gulf of Mexico and the Pacific coast. In those days the aircraft were single-engine Ryan and Fairchild "reazor-backs"—no radio, no co-pilot, no reliable weather reports and no modern airports.

One of the pilots also on the service was the late Wiley Post. As far as Mr. Holms knows there is only one other fellow-pilot still alive.

BOUQUETS FOR A CHANGE: The legislature's three women members—minister without portfolio Mrs. Bada Brown (SC—Vancouver) often do you have a bath? and a number of department heads thought the document was so out of time that they refused to distribute them amongst the staff.

SUSPICIONS CONFIRMED: Liberal leader Ray Perrault was talking about a speech he said had been written by Premier Bennett about the "iniquitous" sales tax in the old Coalition days.

"I never wrote a speech in my life," retorted the premier. It's all very intriguing. Just who does write the budget speech for him?

Blue as Summer Sky

By M. V. CHENUT, FRHS

I started off last week to take you by the hand and lead you through the intricacies of the modern seed catalogue, listing and describing some of the easier flower varieties which have given my family pleasure and satisfaction in our garden.

One little flower which has been shamefully and quite unnecessarily neglected is the Copenhagen bluebell, Phacelia campanularia. If you remember, I distributed free seeds of this little fellow four or five years ago, and some of my readers still have it in their gardens as self-sown seedlings.

Phacelia is a little beauty, growing only about as big as sweet alyssum or lobelia, but covered all over with blossoms about the size of a 25-cent coin and of the clearest and most striking blue—the shade you find in the summer sky on a calm, clear day. Each flower has a tiny “eye” of the purest white.

The plants are quick and easy from seed, flowering in about six weeks after an outdoor sowing. Phacelia makes an admirable and distinctive edging to a flower bed or for use in window boxes and in pockets of the rock garden. It doesn't have quite the staying power of lobelia, but it is an easy matter to sprinkle a few more pinches of seed from time to time through the summer, thereby keeping a succession of young plants coming along.

While we're on the subject of dwarf annuals, I'd like to get in a mention of the quick-growing and popular linaria, a tiny plant built like a fairy snapdragon and bearing the singularly unattractive common name of Toadflax.

There are two different strains of the annual linaria offered by seedmen—Northern Lights, growing around 12 inches in height, and Fairy Bouquet, producing masses of stiff little spikes bearing tiny snapdragon flowers in shades of crimson, mauve, gold, pink, blue, yellow and cream.

Like the glorious “Heavenly Blue” morning glory, the dainty annual linaria has a perennial cousin which has won for itself the dubious honor of being listed as a noxious weed under the Canada Weeds Act. Many an unsuspecting gardener has welcomed the appearance of a pretty little yellow snapdragon in his flower beds only to find that linaria vulgaris has taken complete possession of his garden.

Children have their own name for this intrusive weed—they call it “Butter and Eggs.”

Another dwarf annual which deserves to be grown much more widely is Twinkles phlox. This plant, derived from the taller phlox drummondii, grows to a height of only eight inches, covering itself with brilliantly colored star-shaped blooms with pointed and fringed petals in an endless variety of shades and color combinations.

I didn't have much luck with Twinkles phlox the first year I grew it. Because the seeds cost the earth the first season of their introduction, I sowed them carefully indoors in a flat of soil and nursed them along with loving care until big enough to plant out. The plants turned out straggly and the flowers were sparse and wishy-washy in color, and in disgust I pulled them all up and decided the seedman had been having a game with me.

Since that time, I found out the proper way to grow Twinkles is to scatter the seed on the ground outdoors and let it go at that. Under this casual treatment the plants were sturdy and compact, flowering profusely with rich, glowing colors.

Freeze and Bloom

Flowers Are Funny, Mabel

By TED SHACKLEFORD

“Hello? Mabel? Did you hear what they're saying about our flowers?”

“It's that Dr. Szczawinski, the botanist at the provincial museum. He says our daffs and so on don't bloom in the winter because it's so mild.”

“No, dear, he says they bloom mainly because of the cold.”

“Yes, and that's not all... He's had lily of the valley blooming inside his house in October.”

“It seems that tubers and bulbs go to sleep, sort of, you know, dormant, and if it wasn't for the cold weather in the winter they wouldn't wake up.”

“Then... after the cold has wakened them the warm weather makes them grow. Funny, isn't it?”

“He says lily of the valley goes to sleep in June and if you put the tubers in the fridge for at least a week in October and then plant them inside... no, inside the house, silly... in a dark place, they'll grow and flower in about two weeks.”

“And you can do it with ether and chloroform, too. Just put a bit on cotton batting and put it in a sealed jar with the tubers or bulbs and leave them there for a couple days. And then plant it. No, the bulbs, I mean.”

“When you plant them you have to keep them dark and in a warm, moist place.”

“And if you cut forsythia or apple or cherry branches right now and put them in water inside the house they'll bloom for you.”

“It works with husbands, too, Mabel. If George wants to sleep in on a morning when he should get up early I just open all the windows and pull the covers off.”

“Really wakes him up...”

Hollywood Today

Murdered for $100,000

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—James Leigh's per-picture salary shot up to $100,000 because of “Psycho,” in which she was murdered. She will star next at Columbia with Robert Wagner in “Sail a Crooked Ship.”

Kirk Douglas is soaking up the sunshine in Palm Springs with wife Anne. Kirk had to wait for Mrs. Anne to vacate his luxury home. Joan, by the way, will be going to London for Laurence Harvey's opening night in his stage play there, April 17, scheduled for 12 weeks. When a London reporter phoned the actor here and mentioned, “We understand you are eloping with Mrs. Cohn this weekend,” Larry's answer was unprintable.

Van Heflin's European movie, “The Wastrel,” will be entered in the Cannes film festival. I hear it's one of the best Van has ever done—and he's done some beauties. He will take the whole family to the south of France for the big event.

Orson Welles makes a lot of money, but he lives on such a grand scale that he's usually hard up for cash. I see that someone filed a claim against Orson in London, but later it was withdrawn. I guess he came up with some money.

Lucille Ball, before shuttering “Wildcat” on Broadway because of a virus infection, to fly to Miami for a two-week rest, had phoned to say, among other things, “This is my yellow-white-green period. Before, it was pink-charcoal with gray and black.” Lucille was speaking decoratively. Her expensive New York apartment is in the aforementioned colors.

Rex Harrison is in the clear in the break-up of the marriage of actress Rachel Roberts. Her husband, when asked if Rachel would marry Harrison, didn't know, he said, but added, “Our separation and divorce plans have nothing to do with him. We decided on this step before Rachel met him.” Rex will make “The Oldest Confession” with Rita Hayworth in Spain.

British Pensioners

Gurkhas Marching to Meet Queen

By RAWLE KNOX

KATMANDU (OFN)—Some of the grizzled, retired Gurkhas of the British army have already begun their long march to Pokhara to meet the Queen. Queen Elizabeth does not arrive in Pokhara until the end of the month, but the Gurkhas of the Gurun tribe, from which the British recruit in remote fastnesses many, many days march away.

Pokhara, 2,800 feet above sea level with a semi-tropical climate, is the centre where retired men of the British army collect their pensions. Winter is the pension-paying season and all through the last few months the men who have come down to the little thatched-roof town to take their pay have been told of the date when the Queen is coming. Gradually the news has been spreading through the mountains. It is planned that there will be a front rank of 400 men in the parade the Queen will review and no one knows how many hundreds will swell the rear.

Standing straight up above Pokhara is the 23,000 feet Machhapuchara (“Fish-tail”) Mountain, said to be one of the most staggeringly beautiful sights in the world, and a little to its northwest is the famous Annapurna. The Queen, and Prince Philip will stay in the King of Nepal's holiday villa at the end of a four-mile-long lake.

The Queen will also meet Dr. Rajendra Prasad, the Nepali Evangelist Band, is, with 35 beds, easily the largest, cleanest and the only non-government hospital outside Katmandu.

Because the operating theatre and wards are aluminium prefabricated, the people around Pokhara call it “the shining hospital.” The more practical missionaries refer to it as “the three Bs hospital: burns, babies and bones”—the three most frequent accidents in those parts.

In Pokhara the Queen will be seeing wild and beautiful Nepal without the frills. Even there, though, 700 men of the Nepali army's pioneer corps with a thousand civilians are already working daily to prepare for her arrival. Word has trickled through on the radio and set, with which the British make sure the Queen won't forget her visit.

Science Now Shrinks Piles Without Pain Or Discomfort

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain And Itching As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain and itching. Thousands have been relieved with this inexpensive substance right in the privacy of their own home without any discomfort or inconvenience.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, “very striking improvement” was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was promptly relieved, and while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—the improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such statements as “Piles have ceased to be a problem.” And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of over 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, antibiotics or treatments of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) — the discovery of a famous scientific institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

PERSONAL MENTION

Miss Wynne Shaw will go to Vancouver on Friday to attend the performance of "Showcase" by the Vancouver Ballet Society in the Queen Elizabeth Theatre that evening.

Visiting Parents

Other guests invited were Mrs. E. Stewart, Mrs. S. Leal, Mrs. A. Welton, Mrs. M. Laughlin, Mrs. P. Cann, Miss B. Thomas, Miss G. Watkins and Miss E. Matthews.

Shower for Miss Terrillon

A surprise kitchen shower was given for Miss Louise Terrillon whose marriage to Mr. Jack Davis takes place on Feb. 14, by Miss Sheila MacPhail at the home of her parents, at 350 Vincent Avenue. The gifts were placed in a shopping cart, decorated with a large flower-covered heart for her Valentine wedding. Those present were Mrs. H. Terrillon, mother of the bride, Mrs. C. Davis, mother of the groom, Mrs. Anderson, grandmother of the bride, Mrs. D. MacPhail, Mrs. J. K. Murray, Mrs. A. Rodger, Mrs. A. Muddle, Mrs. G. Childs, Mrs. W. Alder, and the Misses Margo Colak, Barbara Single, Angela Cadell, Joanne Whitely, Ilace Norris, Heather McWilliam, Arden McAlpine, Lyn Speller and Sharon Wilson.

Near-White and Knits News for This Spring

Oh's and ah's rippled through the room yesterday afternoon as, one after another, sparkling creations appeared at the jointly-sponsored fashion shows held by the Alumnae Associations of St. Joseph's Hospital and Royal Jubilee Hospital in the Jubilee nurses' residence.

"Spring Bouquet", presented as a "Spring Bouquet" were from Scurrah's, with hats from Tooley's and furs from Wilkes Furriers.

Throughout the showing, clothes had "the lady look"—youthful and undeniably feminine. Commentator, Helen Biernes, introduced the latest trends, colors, lines and fabrics. One color seen often, and beautifully, was a delicate "Kennedy pink," named, of course, for Jackie Kennedy.

One of the most stunning models in the show was Mrs. R. Kersey, who continually brought forth sighs of admiration. She wore a near-white waffle-knit suit with tubular tie belt, classic neckline and matching, high, turbaned straw. In another ensemble, Mrs. Kersey wore a glorious, frothy, pink confection of a hat of tulle and French veiling and flowers, complementing a stunning black sheath with portrait neckline.

Kennedy pink was worn by Mrs. Kersey in a slim-skirted shantung dress with very new lines, mandarin-influence sleeves, simply-styled neckline. Her hat was a bouquet of roses and snowdrops and greenery. Miss Mary Spillsbury was a sprightly and vivacious model, showing younger clothes in a springtime mood. A black on white tweed coat had a military touch with buttons marching down the front.

Miss Fern Adam modelled a lovely willow green and hyacinth suit fashioned with a Puritan collar, short, short jacket and skirt with unpressed pleats. She also wore a youthful and dainty coat dress of pistachio and white coin dots, striking with the orange ice brimmed straw and matching accessories.

Miss Arlene Craig illustrated the popularity of white by wearing a white wool coat, pure and untrimmed, with mandarin-type sleeves.

Mrs. P. E. Webb, in a muted green, all-wool knit suit, was charming. Natural grey squirrel complemented the lovely navy blue jacket dress Mrs. Webb wore with an ultra-high pillbox topped with a Kennedy pink French rose.

Very popular this year is the simple, ring neckline that sits away from the neck slightly. This styling was seen in a lush mohair and wool coat in apricot beige worn by Miss Elizabeth Ebbs-Canavan, who chose also a matching flowered, brimmed straw cloche. She also wore one of the most talked-about hats in the show—an airy French beaver with white feathers under veiling, right on top of her head, worn with a basic black shantung sheath and a mink stole. Azalea pink in a nubby weave suit with a silk over blouse in geometric print, which also lined the jacket, was worn by Miss Sheila McCann.

Mrs. C. R. Seyfort, petite and demure, modelled clothes for women 5'5" and under. One of these outfits was a geometric print in sunrise colors of red, gold and green with an olive belt. Another was a burst of color—hot tangerine—with a simple neckline and tulip overskirt.

Mrs. A. B. Thompson was a gracious model, and one of the highlights of the fashions she wore was an antique rose lace dress, particularly suitable for the mother of the bride. With the dress she wore a pink bouquet of French chiffon roses.

No fashion show is complete without the bridal entourage, and yesterday dark-haired Miss Arlene Craig was the bride in bouffant, formal bridal gown of nylon tulle with three-quarter shirred sleeves and a deeply folded neckline. A crown of seed pearls, bugle beads and sequins held a misting veil.

Attendants were Elizabeth Ebbs-Canavan and Fern Adam in heaven blue and crocus nylon organza and Mary Spillsbury and Sheila McCann in yellow and pink embroidered white organza.

During the afternoon, organist was Miss Althea Stelek. The showing was repeated in the evening.

No. 45

Carne Rebekah Lodge, No. 45, IOOF, will meet on Thursday, Feb. 16, at 7:30 p.m. in the Odd Fellows Hall. Court whist will be played after the business meeting. Proceeds will go to the Home Fund in commemoration of Thomas Willey's birthday.

Sir Michael and Lady Butler, right, are here from Toronto to visit Sir Michael's mother, Mrs. Leonard Crookston, Torquay Drive. The visitors will be here until the weekend.

Sir Michael who attended school here met a number of old friends at the reception given by Mr. and Mrs. Crookston on Monday evening.—(Ryan Bros. Studio.)

Mrs. Warren Smith Regent Esquimalt Chapter IOOE

Mrs. T. G. Clarke, a member of Esquimalt Chapter IOOE for 42 years, installed the new executive at the 48th annual meeting of the chapter at the Colonial Inn preceding dinner on Monday evening.

Mrs. Warren Smith, a member of the chapter for 24 years, who has served as regent for six years previously, was again chosen to lead the chapter this year.

Other members elected were Mrs. R. G. Mosher, 1st vice-regent; Mrs. J. Bryant, 2nd vice regent; Mrs. A. G. Fulmer, secretary; Mrs. J. C. MacDonald, treasurer; Mrs. A. Hatch, educational secretary; Mrs. Clarke, Echoes secretary; Mrs. J. T. Jones, Standard Bearer; and Mrs. H. Baker, Services at Home and Abroad.

A total of $671.75 was raised during the year by holding a luncheon, coffee party, bean supper and home cooking stall at the IOOE Jamboree.

The sum of $693 was expended on various projects.

In the educational field the Hugh Creelman Trophy was awarded to David Allen, Lampson Street School; $10 bursary to Carol Sluggett, top Grade 8 student at Esquimalt Junior High School and a $75 scholarship to Lois Steele of Esquimalt High School.

A donation of $75 was made to secondary education; $10 to the Golden Jubilee Scholarship Fund and $50 to the University Building Fund.

A total of $119.55 was spent on Services at Home and Abroad. This included donations for the Korean project; flowers for the DVA Hospital; providing Christmas hampers for needy families; supplying of three afghans to the Red Cross Clinic and sending nine bundles of pocket books to Canadian troops in Germany.

Mrs. G. R. Ross, retiring regent, spoke of the co-operation of all members in making the projects during the year so successful.

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 13-year-old girl with a big problem. I am afraid to ride in a car. It doesn't bother me much in the city, but when we get out on the highway I go to pieces.

I become faint the minute we go over 30 miles an hour. I perspire and everything gets blurry. This summer when the family was on vacation we drove across several states. I was a nervous wreck after that trip. I blacked out several times when we passed cars.

I told my parents and they said "Stop talking nonsense. It's all in your head." We have many relatives out of town and I have to go with my folks when we visit them. Please tell me how to get over this problem.—AFRAID

Dear Afraid: Of course it's all in your head. That's where all fears are. The question is how to get it out of your head. The anxiety you suffer on the highway is related to something else which probably goes

Coffee Party Proceeds $235

A capacity crowd attended the Valentine coffee party given by St. Andrew's Presbyterian Guild groups in the Kirk hall on Tuesday morning. The successful affair realized $235.

Mrs. D. Elford, president, received the guests and Mrs. B. J. Molloy, Mrs. J. C. Boyne, Mrs. C. H. Maclean and Mrs. A. A. Rattray poured tea and coffee.

Mrs. R. Ross was general convener and Mrs. J. Robertson, assisted by the Lake Hill Group with Mrs. F. O. Jenkinson and Mrs. C. Boel looked after the bake table. Tea and coffee was served by Mrs. L. W. Johnson, Mrs. J. Howard and Mrs. K. Leeming.

James Bay and Uplands Groups with Mrs. A. Crofts, Mrs. C. Houston, Mrs. F. F. Osborn, Mrs. T. Taylor, Mrs. C. W. Paulin, Mrs. D. Scott, Mrs. D. Goss, Mrs. W. G. Flett, Mrs. J. Burridge, Mrs. W. Holder, Mrs. F. Hawes, Mrs. B. W. Gornall, Mrs. E. Yeomans and Mrs. F. W. McMurray looked after kitchen arrangements.

The Oak Bay group with Mrs. M. Campbell, Mrs. R. S. Dyer, Miss Agnes Hood, Mrs. W. Strachan and Mrs. H. Warren in charge looked after the serving.

The effective Valentine decorations were the work of Mrs. R. W. Cherriff and Mrs. M. Campbell.

—FRESBYTERY

Guest speakers will be Dr. H. L. Keenleyside and the Rev. Laura Butler.

way back to your early childhood. You relive all the old fears when the memory of the first situation is recalled. You need trained psychiatric help. My consultants in this field tell me your problem might be solved with just a few visits. Show this column to your parents and ask them to help you.

Dear Ann Landers: A social friend has had her eye on my husband for years. Her husband passed away last month and now she won't leave my husband alone.

He claims there's nothing between them but friendship but he goes to his sister's house to telephone her almost every morning. He says he doesn't want to call her from home because it upsets me. According to him she needs his moral support and he sees nothing wrong in the calls.

What can I do about this? I'd like to pull her hair out by the handful but I don't think it would solve anything.—PATRICIA

Dear Patricia: What does your husband do with his evenings? You give no hint that he ever gets out of your sight.

Encourage him to be open and above board. The more you're in on the less you'll have to worry about. It may well be that he is innocent but if you continue to give him the name he may go in for the game.

Dear Ann: My girl and I read your column and discuss it. We are planning to marry in May and notice that you often tell people they should decide on the financial arrangements before marriage.

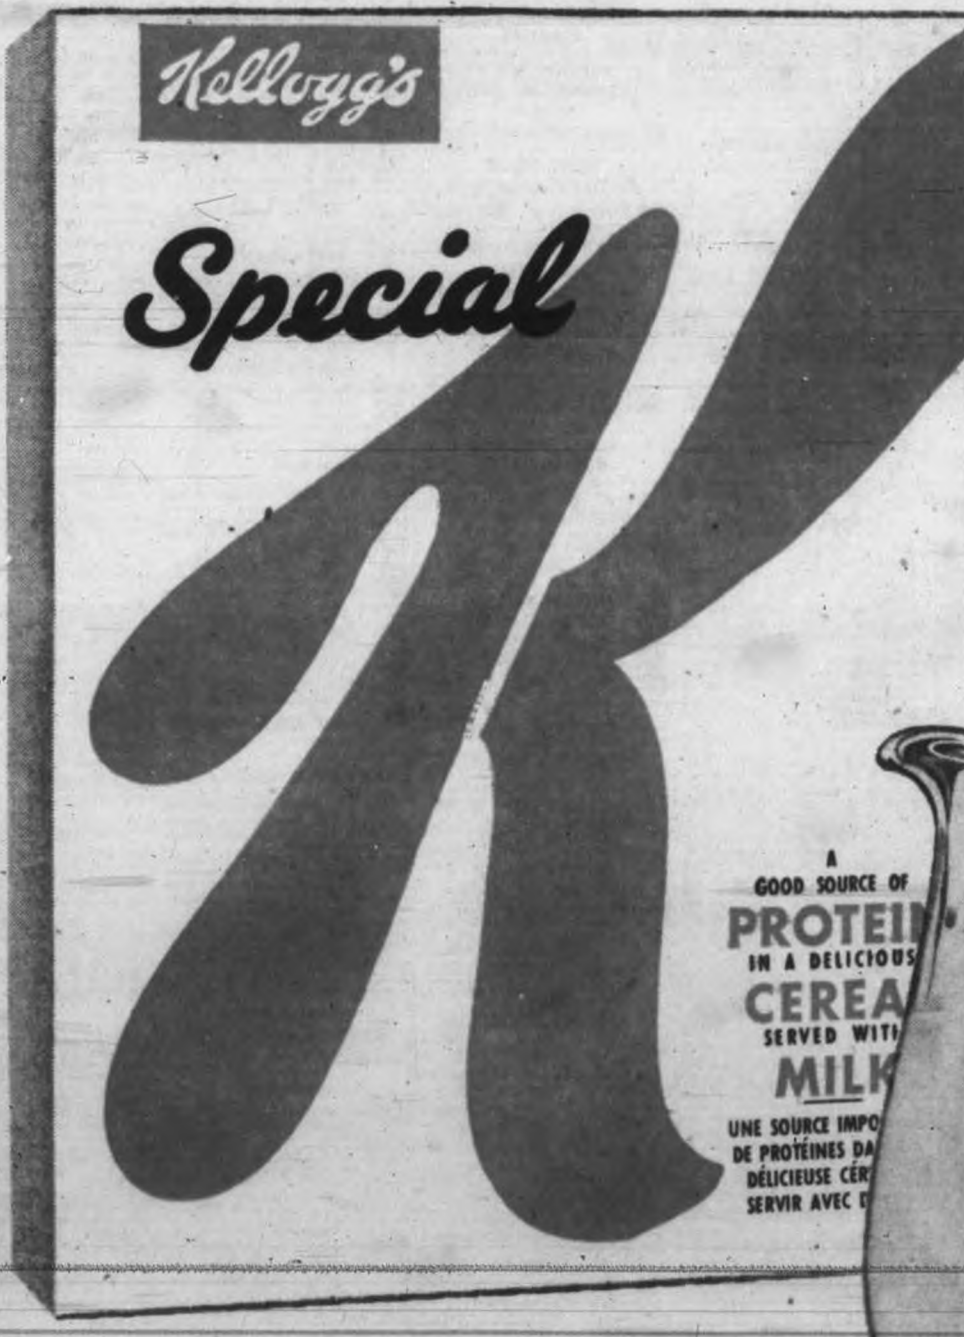

We both have good jobs but she is a better money-manager. If I didn't give her part of my cheque to put in the bank I'd have it all. As it is we have saved enough to make a down payment on a home and buy furniture.

The question is this: She thinks $6 a week is enough for a fellow to buy lunches and take the bus to and from work. I make $78 a week and she makes $60. How about this?—HANK

Dear Hank: A fellow who makes $78 a week should be able to keep $15 in his pocket without going hog-wild. Only the very rich and the very poor go around broke. Since you are neither, this is a nice, conservative (but not skimpy) compromise.

To learn how to keep your boy friend in line without losing him, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Living and Letting—And How Far To Go," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope. Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problem. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

successful tenderer. Certified cheques will not be accepted.

Tenders must be made in strict accordance with the specifications and enclosed in the envelope furnished.
Tenders are advised that all bidders will be required to satisfy the Chairman of the B.C. Toll Highways and Bridges Authority, in writing that they have the necessary qualifications to successfully perform the work. It is preferred that tenders submit with their tenders a list stating the type, capacity, and the present location (as checked by the Chairman) of the equipment in their possession or at their disposal which is immediately available for the carrying out of the work within the time limit specified, without in any way curtailing or delaying any project that may be under contract at this date.

No tender will be accepted or considered that contains an escalator clause or any other qualifying conditions, and the lowest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted.

Bulb Growers May Import Pheasant-Chasing Powder

A Gordon Head bulb grower has arranged to import a special powder from Holland in an attempt to drive pheasants from his fields.

"Bulb growers in Holland use the powder which apparently drives pheasants away," Kenneth Paddon, 2009 Ferndale, said last night. "Last year I had 30,000 bulbs of one variety planted in a field and it wasn't worth anything when they finished. I lost between $1,000 and $1,200."

Mr. Paddon heard of the powder through a Dutch couple in Oak Bay, Mr. and Mrs. John Hermans, 2205 Oak Bay Avenue, and has made arrangements with them to obtain a supply of it.

Capt. C. R. Wilson, 8433 Ben Gordon, president of the Vancouver Island Bulb Growers' Association and president of the B.C. Bulb Growers' Federation, said he felt the powder would be ineffective on Saanich Peninsula.

"Can you imagine how powder would stand up under those torrential rains we have had recently?" he asked. "The climatic conditions in Holland are entirely different to ours."

He suggested an open season should be declared for the hunting of pheasants and deer, which attack other crops.

City parks committee couldn't make up its mind this week where "Speakers' Corner" should be in Beacon Hill Park, and postponed a decision.

Relocation this spring has been recommended by parks administrator W. H. Warren so that wild flowers won't be trampled. He told the committee yesterday he had considered one site on the hill and found it too remote; another among the trees and found parking inadequate, and had decided the field opposite South Park School was best.

"I don't know why," said
chairman Ald. M. H. Mooney,
"but I don't like it." The other two members appeared to agree.

Quick action is in prospect on a request of the Silver Threads Service for a survey of the housing needs of elderly Victorians.

By coincidence, the Capital Region Planning Board will soon start a study that probably will serve the purpose, planning director Brahm Wies-man said yesterday.

Victoria Gladious Society will hold its monthly meeting at 8 p.m. Thursday in the council chambers at city hall.

Steps down a bank to a bus stop near the entrance to Royal Oak Burial Park have been removed because they were dangerous, Ald. M. H.
Mooney said this week, and arrangements have been made for buses to stop where the entrance road meets the highway.

The League of Rones will meet at Newstead Hall, 734 Fort, at 8 p.m. Thursday. Visitors are welcome.

Roger N. Stone, 1573 Wilmet
Place, is one of four University of B.C. engineering students recently awarded the Athlone Fellowship in engineering. The fellowships provide for two years of advanced study or research in industry or universities in the United Kingdom.

Equimult Canadian Legion will hold its regular general meeting in the Legion hall at 8 p.m. today.

Regular monthly meeting of the Ontario Social Group of Victoria will be held at 8 p.m.
today at 1400 Broad Street.

A speak thief with well-groomed black hair lifted a change purse from the top drawer of a desk in the Douglas Building Monday and fled before anything could be done about it.

The purse contained $6 and some stamps.

Victoria Conservation Council has given support to a move by Vancouver Island Ratepayers' Association to establish a memorial park to honor the late newspaperman historian Bruce McKelvie on Cobble Hill Mountain.

Survey of the need for a recreation centre for Oak Bay is being continued by the municipal parks committee, Coun. Gordon Elworthy said yesterday.

The parks chairman said there have been no objections brought to him since the project—still in the early planning stages—was first announced several weeks ago. He said he took this to be an affirmative indication of public opinion.

The parks committee has undertaken a survey aimed at finding what facilities are needed most, then coming up with a proposed scheme for financing the project before bringing it to council for decision on what action should be taken.

A new building for the Young Men's and Young Women's Christian Association of Victoria was suggested this week as "a fine and useful official project for (the city's) centennial year."

In a letter to city council, the association's development committee said its present plan is to appeal to the citizens of the community early in 1962 for funds for a new building.

Fall Start Possible For Health Centre

Saanich may begin construction of a new combined health and welfare centre at Swan Lake this fall, Reeve George Chatterton said yesterday.

The reeve was commenting on the disclosure that Victoria Kinamen Club was prepared to contribute a substantial sum towards building costs. He said the municipality would the money and we could get probably pay for welfare facilities included in the new centre.

"I have no idea when the club's money would be available," said Mr. Chatterton. "But if council approves and Kinamen Club is willing we might enter into an agreement that its share would be paid over two or three years, towards building costs. He said the municipality would the money and we could get probably pay for welfare facilities included in the new centre."

18-Year-Old Ordered Released

VANCOUVER (CP) — An 18-year-old Cranbrook boy was ordered released from jail Monday on request of the attorney-general's department, Roderick James Bruce was convicted of contributing to juvenile delinquency but the charge covered a five-month period while the boy was only 17.

Conditions for U.S.

Castro Offers Olive Branch

HAVANA (UPI) — Premier Castro held out the olive branch Tuesday to the U.S., but with many conditions attached.

He assailed the U.S. for what he described as its aid and encouragement of his political foes, and warned Cuba was "in a position to unleash serious problems for the United States throughout Latin America" if it did not cease "its aim to overthrow our government."

He has no desire, Castro said, to continued hostility toward Washington, and he said he hoped eventually to re-establish friendly political relations between the two countries.

But for such a rapprochement he listed as conditions:

- That the U.S. halt what he described as its active support of his enemies;
- That President Kennedy demonstrate "by deeds" that Washington "will not interfere" with Cuban internal affairs;
- That the U.S. accept Cuba's close ties with Communist nations.

And Castro expressed deep conviction of the "superiority" of the "socialist system" over the capitalist system.

He said he was sure Kennedy wanted to "relax" tension but was "impeded" by what he described as "political pressures."

Arson Case Defendants Sought

HOW YOUR LIVER BILE HELPS BREAK DOWN FATS IN THE DIGESTIVE TRACT

Laboratory tests have now proved that liver bile emulsifies fats... actually breaks them down. It is an established fact that when liver bile is added to fatty solids, the fats are broken down and form a smooth, easy-digesting mix.

In your digestive tract, liver bile helps break down fats the same way. Many of the foods you eat reach the digestive tract as undigested fatty solids. Your golden liver bile helps break down these fats... for easier and more complete digestion.

Carters Little Liver Pills' exclusive formula of vegetable ingredients relieves irregularity gently and effectively. At the same time, it actually improves the flow of liver bile needed to break down fats in your digestive tract.

So when you feel sluggish, head-achy, nervous and need a laxative, take Carters Little Liver Pills.

Remember, Carters not only relieves irregularity, but actually improves the flow of liver bile. Get Carters Little Liver Pills today!

Last of Trans-Canada Gaps Closed in B.C. by Late '63

The British Columbia section of the Trans-Canada Highway is scheduled for completion Dec. 31, 1963, Highway Minister Gagliardi said yesterday.

He said that to date $175,123,000 has been spent in the province on Trans-Canada Highway construction work with $74,719,000 of this contributed by the federal government.

Final total estimated cost is $235,000,000.

Answers filed in the legislature Tuesday showed that $4,787,728 has been spent so far toward construction of the Stewart-Cassiar highway in the north-central area of the province.

This means about one-third of the job is completed.

A comparison of the estimated displacement to be caused by the High Arrow Dam on the Columbia River with that which would result from the so-called Dorr diversion of the Kootenay River was given in the legislature in answers filed by Lands and Forests Minister Williston.

High Arrow: About 40,000 acres would be flooded, among them between 4,150 and 5,900 acres of land now in agricultural use and between 15,000 and 20,000 acres that is considered potentially-usable arable land. About 1,600 persons will be displaced.

Dorr diversion: About 91,000 acres would be flooded, among them 1,000 now in use for agricultural purposes, and 50,000 to 60,000 acres of potentially-usable arable land. About 1,600 persons would be displaced.

Welfare Minister Wesley Black has confirmed that the government is revising regulations dealing with the eligibility of old-age pensioners to receive a maximum $24 cost-of-living bonus.

But he strongly denied a statement by CCF leader Robert Strachan that social welfare medical cards will be taken away from those unemployed employables who are already in receipt of them.

Mr. Black also announced the government had been considering removing the 5 per cent of assessed value on homes that is included as income in granting old-age allowance.

A B.C. Bill of Rights was presented to the legislature yesterday by Gordon Dowling (CCF—Burnaby) and was given first reading.

The bill proposes individuals be given the right of life, liberty, security of the person and enjoyment of property, and the right not to be deprived of these, except by process of law; the right to equality before the law and protection of the law; freedom of religion; freedom of speech; freedom of assembly and association; freedom of the press and freedom of privacy.

There has been more criticism of the welfare department for being too free with welfare, than there has been for not doing enough, Cyril Shelford (SC—Omineca) told the legislature.

"Paying welfare to those that are capable of work is a negative approach to the problem of helping the unemployed. It would be far better to have them work on something that will be of use to the people of the province, than pay out money for nothing," he said.

Mechanics Reassured By Bonner

Attorney-General Bonner last night denied the government has considered an amendment to the Mechanics' Lien Act to discontinue registration of liens under $50.

Victoria branch of the Automotive Retail Association protested Monday limiting liens would force garage owners to refuse to undertake repairs under $50 except for cash.

Mr. Bonner said "the whole question of the Mechanics' Lien Act has been referred to the legislative committee on labor."

Stop 'Purple' Sale Car Dealers Urge

Provincial government should stop the sale of non-taxable "purple" gasoline instead of raising the regular gasoline tax from 10 cents to 13 cents a gallon, it was suggested here.

The tell-tale gasoline can only be used off the roads for boats, farm machinery and logging trucks.

Members of the Victoria branch of the Automotive Retail Association said here that since gasoline tax money goes into provincial revenue and not a road fund, everyone should be paying tax, not just the motorist.

"If the purple gas is abolished, there would be an increase in the sale of taxable gas and the three-cent boost would not be necessary," said a spokesman.

$16,000,000 More For B.C. Toll Roads

A provincial order-in-council yesterday authorized the B.C. Toll Highways and Bridges Authority to borrow another $16,000,000 for refunding purposes. Maximum borrowing power of the authority is $120,000,000, and it has borrowed $96,750,000 of that amount.

Carton Ruling Won by Dairy

Magistrate William Ostler ruled Tuesday that a section of B.C.'s Milk Industry Act is invalid because the province has no authority to legislate in the field of weights and measures.

He subsequently dismissed a charge against Milky Way Dairy Ltd. of using milk cartons not based on the imperial gallon, a standard volume set by the United Kingdom.

There was no immediate indication the judgment would be appealed.

FEDERAL FIELD

Mr. Ostler said that under the British North America Act, all legislation involving weights and measures is a federal field. A federal statute has since specified that the standards must be Canadian. "It is immaterial if the Canadian gallon, specified in the federal act, and the imperial gallon are approximately the same," he said.

There is nothing to prevent the government of the United Kingdom from changing the imperial standard. It is difficult to see, Mr. Ostler said, how that could be done without doing violence to the Canadian Weights and Measures Act.

ULTRA VIRES

"In this instance the regulation has exceeded the powers of the legislature and is ultra vires."

John Tisdale, Social Credit member of the legislature for Saanich who has consistently opposed the decision to prosecute the dairy, said:

"The government has been extricated from a most embarrassing position perpetuated by the former minister of agriculture who had the unhappy knack of not only making enemies of the farmers but making it difficult for them."

Today's Speakers

William Murray (SC—Prince Rupert) will lead off in the budget debate in the legislature at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Other speakers will be David Barrett (CCF—Dewdney), W. F. Jeffcoat (SC—Salmon Arm), John Squire (CCF—Alberni) and Donald Brothers (SC—Rossland-Trail).

Saanich, Oak Bay Chiefs:

Radar Not a Trap It's a Deterrent

At least two Greater Victoria police chiefs think the greatest value of radar on the roads is deterrent effect, on speeding.

Both Chief Const. W. A. Pearson of Saanich, where they have radar, and Chief Const. Robert Smith of Oak Bay, where purchase of radar is being considered, offered identical comment yesterday.

"I don't care if we never catch anybody—as long as the knowledge that we have radar makes people drive more safely."

"If it has that effect, Chief Pearson added, "I don't mind if the set never leaves the office. If we have to use it, however, we will."

In Oak Bay purchase of radar for the police department has been approved by the police commission, and goes next to municipal council as a part of the department budget.

"In addition to the deterrent effect of radar," said Chief Smith, "it would help us pinpoint speeders in cases where clocking speeders is difficult or impossible, yet where we know speeding is involved."

Both chiefs were emphatic on another point:

"We have no intention of using radar for any revenue-producing speed-trap."

SPCA Meets On Friday

Annual meeting of the Victoria branch, B.C. Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals will be held Friday at 8 p.m. in Newstead Hall, 734 Fort. Speaker will be T. I. Hughes, Vancouver, executive director of the provincial body.

Esquimalt, City Shun Car-Clockers

Victoria and Esquimalt police are not likely to be supplied with radio timing devices similar to that used by Saanich police and on order for Oak Bay police.

"It is a lot more important to stop people breaking the law than letting them break it and then catching them," William Hamilton, city police commissioner, said last night.

Reeve A. C. Wurtele, chairman of Esquimalt police commission, said it is unlikely that a "radar" speed timer will be bought for the municipality's police.

Trophy for Ace Archer

COURTENAY—A reward offer has revived interest in an unsolved $3,400 supermarket robbery here six months ago.

An Overwater Ltd. spokesman said today the firm will pay $200 cash plus 10 per cent of any money recovered, for information leading to a conviction of the culprits.

The money, including cash and cheques, was taken in a bag hidden in the store overnight.

'Mad Painter' Leaves Red-Splotched Trail

By CHARLES THOMPSON

DUNCAN—Police and Cowichan Valley residents are trying to track down the mysterious "Mad Painter."

Within the past 48 hours he has daubed blood-red paint on mailboxes, road signs, gates, fence posts and street signs along a five-mile route in what residents call a "crazy spree."

"It is plain senseless," said Cowichan Station post office manager Clare Cornett.

Police have asked residents to watch their property and report any suspicious persons.

It is known the Mad Painter struck after 11 p.m. Monday on Fairbridge, Birch and Phipps Roads and the Trans-Canada Highway. Most of the mysteriously daubed property is owned by farmers.

"It just looks like he started from Duncan and worked his way around east back into town," said Mr. Cornett.

The postmaster said he knows a prime suspect whose name he will turn over to police.

One group of 10 mailboxes at Fairbridge and several on Gibson's Bowldrome, 914 Yates, overnight Monday got away with close to $100 in cash.

Curbs, Gutters

Gagliardi Dashes Parksville's Hopes

PARKSVILLE—Hopes for installation of curbs, gutters and a sidewalk in Parksville this year have been dashed by Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi.

The minister said in a letter to council that government plans do not include installation of curbs and gutters in Parksville this year and that the program for this work is very limited. Parksville council has been pressing for curbs and gutters along main highways within the village for several years and has even sent delegations to Victoria to further the request.

In other business at a regular meeting of council it was reported that the budget for the Vancouver Island Regional Library for 1961 has increased the library tax to $1.80 per capita compared to $1.30 for 1960.

Around the Island

United Appeal Set to Embrace Red Cross in Comox Area

COURTENAY—Negotiations to include the Red Cross in the 1961 United Appeal campaign here are nearing successful completion, a joint announcement of the presidents of the two organizations said today.

Mayor W. C. Moore, president of the United Appeal fund, and Harold Woodland, Comox district Red Cross president, said the move already has been approved at the local and provincial levels.

Ratification by the national council of the Red Cross in Toronto is hoped for by the time of the United Appeal annual meeting, Feb. 22 in Courtenay.

Woodland said the usual Red Cross campaign will not be held in March this year.

"We hope the public will increase its giving to support the joint effort when the United Appeal drive comes in the fall," he said.

Mayor Moore said annual meeting reports will show the 1960 United Appeal campaign was 85 per cent successful, a 10 per cent improvement over the previous year.

LADYSMITH—A bathroom tussle that overflowed into a main street here Monday night cost a man $35 in court yesterday.

William Cross, Duncan, pleaded guilty to a charge of disturbing the peace by fighting on First Street.

Norman Thompson, also of Duncan, pleaded innocent to the charge and is to stand trial Monday.

CHERMAIN—John Piluk of Wellington was arrested Monday near here with 10 chickens.

Yesterday he pleaded guilty to theft of the birds from Westholme farmer Alexander Walker, who called police where a man was seen near his chicken house.

Fine was $50. Police stopped Piluk in a car less than a mile from the Walker farm.

NANAIMO—Central Vancouver Island health unit will start a major tuberculosis survey at the end of the month, an official announced here yesterday.

Dr. C. J. G. McKenzie said extensive surveys are carried out about once every three years. He said as much of the adult population as possible, as well as school students, will be covered.

LADYSMITH—Funeral services for the late Norman Gregson, 58, who died in hospital at Victoria, was held here Monday followed by cremation at Royal Oak.

Born at Ladysmith and the son of a pioneer family, the late Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gregson who came here from Old Wellington in 1900, he was a partner in the firm of Gregson Bros. Cartage.

He was a past master of St. John's Lodge, A.F. & A.M., at Ladysmith, and of the Lodge of Perfection, and the Rose Croix, at Victoria.

He loved gardening, and grew a great variety of flowers in his greenhouse here.

Survivors are his wife, Elizabeth, Ladysmith; two daughters, Mrs. Peggy Kuzyk of Seattle, and Mrs. Norma Brunt, Nanaimo; two brothers, Edward of Ladysmith, and Douglas of Nanaimo; two sisters, Mrs. Les (Theima) Robertson of Ladysmith and Mrs. Elsie Torrence, Victoria.

PARKSVILLE—The business formerly known as Al's Corner Grocery situated on the corner of Bay Street and the Island Highway has been purchased from Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Johnson by Miss Bertha Jenkins, formerly of Kitimat, B.C.

The business will in future be known as Bert's Store.

Miss Jenkins was on the staff of Kitimat hospital for several years prior to coming to Parksville and has practised nursing in many parts of Canada.

PORT ALBERNI—Expressing strong disapproval of B.C.'s new budget yesterday, Port Alberni's Mayor Loren Jordan said Premier Bennett should have increased liquor taxes before boosting the impost on gasoline.

He said the three-cent-a-gallon increase in the gas tax will place a hardship upon anyone who must use a car to get to and from their work.

He was critical of the budget's new taxation assessment formula.

"We don't know what the impact on our city will be with Mr. Bennett messing around with our assessments," he said. "Anything can happen—Mr. Bennett's action is ill-advised."

DUNCAN—Cecil Wyndham Bird, 330 Coronation, pleaded guilty and was fined $25 yesterday for failing to file a 1959 income tax return.

Karl Masa, Jordan River, was fined $20 for driving 45 miles an hour in spite of a 35-m.p.h. restriction on his licence. He pleaded guilty.

Station Spruced Up 'If Business Better'

DUNCAN—City council has been told bluntly in reply to complaints about the look of the E & N railway station here that it may be painted this year—but only if business improves.

"Our revenues, as you can realize, are subject to far greater fluctuation than those of civic bodies," wrote D. C. Hartley, E & N superintendent.

"The lack of revenue is some of their own doing," said Ald. Hamish Mutter as the letter was tabled Monday by council.

"We are quite sympathetic with your desire to keep up the general tone of buildings

LADYSMITH—A young man who missed death by the depth of a truck seat-cushion Monday was out of bed and walking on crutches yesterday.

Donald Gardner, 19, was trapped for two and a half hours when his runaway truck demolished a house. The wreck pushed his body nearly four inches into the seat.

An official at Ladysmith General Hospital said his condition was "good."

Gardner received numerous bruises and lacerations. Rescuers stated he survived a "million-to-one" chance when his 10-ton oil truck went out of control about 11 a.m. and crashed part way through a house.

One man said if Gardner had not thrown himself flat on the seat "he'd have been dead for sure."

PARKSVILLE—The women's institute here will seek to resume annual basking sales which were staged until last year in the community park.

Permission to use the park for the sales was denied last year and as a result the institute lost what had previously been a source of substantial revenue. Funds from the sales had been used to purchase playground equipment for the park and to support other community projects.

LADYSMITH—Ladysmith Chapter of the Registered Nurses' Association of British Columbia will again award a $50 bursary to a qualifying high school graduate planning to enter nurses' training.

A donation of $25 made to the new health centre through public health nurse Miss Eva Wolf will be used to purchase a gift for the child health clinic.

Florence Nightingale birthday tea, the RNA's annual fund-raising event, will be held May 10 in the United Church hall.

PARKSVILLE—Annual children's revue will be staged March 24 at the high school auditorium under sponsorship of Parksville Women's Institute.

Entertainment will be provided entirely by children, and Mrs. W. J. Roscoe has been named general convener of the event.

ALBERNI—Eight owners of property along Kitsukia Creek are seeking redress for what they term "improper assessments" after losing amounts varying from 10 to 30 feet each of their land by erosion. Their request for the city to build a retaining wall was referred to a select committee.

VICTORIA ACCOUNTANTS Hold Meeting Today

A dinner meeting of the Victoria chapter of the Society of Industrial and Cost Accountants will be held at 6 p.m. today at the Pacific Club.

John Woolcock, a chartered accountant and Kenneth Murphy, a lawyer, will speak on incorporation of a limited company.

Letter-of-Law Walker Halts Mid-Intersection

LITERALLY MINDED: Just what would we do without those little old ladies?

The lights at Yates and Douglas, as near everyone knows, have two instructions for pedestrians—"Walk" and "Don't Walk."

The other day the little lady, according to one of our constabulary, was halfway across when the light switched to "Don't Walk."

Do you know she stopped in her tracks right there—in the middle of the street?

PROPER PROCEDURE: Bill No. 17, given first reading in the legislature yesterday, is an intriguing document, especially if you have a sense of humor.

There are two sections to "An Act to Repeal the Centennial Celebration Act" and we reproduce them here in their entirety:

"1. This act may be cited as the Centennial Celebration Act.

"2. The Centennial Celebration Act is repealed."

And at the bottom of the page there is this statement to tell one what it's all about: "Explanatory Note: Self explanatory."

This statement is submitted by the Legislative Council and is not part of the legislation.

What's it all mean? Well, air the party's over. This officially winds up the B.C. centennial celebrations of 1958.

THE INSIDE TRACK: They tell me there's quite a to-do at one of our larger city stores as a result of regulations as to what the sales girls can wear and other more intimate matters.

The girls are in quite a flap. I can tell you.

It's strictly a two-way stretch.

Management sent around questionnaires for the girls to fill out (sample query: How often do you have a bath?) and a number of department heads thought the document was so out of line that they refused to distribute them amongst the staff.

SUSPICIONS CONFIRMED: Liberal leader Ray Perrault was talking about a speech he said had been written by Premier Bennett about the "iniquitous" sales tax in the old Coalition days.

"I never wrote a speech in my life," retorted the premier. It's all very intriguing. Just who does write the budget speech for him?

Peter Bruton's Capital Notebook

Point Grey), Mrs. Lola Haggan (CCF—Grand Forks-Greenwood) and Mrs. Camille Mather (CCF—Delta), each got up yesterday to praise Premier Bennett.

The reason: He presented each with a vase of red and white flowers—as a Valentine's gift.

FLYING HIGH: Someone has started a rumor that Cecil Holms will make a last-minute withdrawal from the contest for the Conservative party nomination in the Esquimalt-Saanich by-election.

Just isn't so, says Mr. Holms, who dropped off some information about his colorful career. Seems that in 1929 he was in Mexico flying as an air mail pilot between the Gulf of Mexico and the Pacific coast.

In those days the aircraft were single-engine Ryan and Fairchild "razorbacks"—no radio, no co-pilot, no reliable weather reports and no modern airports.

One of the pilots also on the service was the late Wiley Post. As far as Mr. Holms knows there is only one other fellow-pilot still alive.

Jetliner Crashes 'Like Giant Stone'

BRUSSELS (AP)—A huge Belgian jet airliner coming from New York, crashed "like a giant stone" early today only a few miles from its destination, this city's airport.

Number of people aboard was not known. The Sabena Airlines Boeing jet was seen to "climb suddenly, point its nose toward the sky, then fall backward abruptly, like a giant stone." Skies were clear and weather was fine.

Socred May Vote 'No'

First Socred private member to speak in the legislature's budget debate indicated yesterday he may vote against the three-cent boost in gasoline tax proposed by Premier Bennett.

Cyril Shelford (SC—Omineca), often referred to as the maverick Social Creditor, called for a one-price system by gasoline companies throughout B.C.

NAME PRIZES
He couldn't see why gas companies can't do the same as one big mail-order department store and tobacco companies do, in charging the same prices for products anywhere in B.C.

And he warned: "I trust the government will make strong representation to the gas companies in this regard before I am asked to vote on this increase."

$6,000,000 LEASE

Mr. Shelford said the increase means "we will buy $6,000,000 less of some other consumer goods, which will add to the number of unemployed."

Thieves Grab Bag of Cash

VANCOUVER (CP)—Two women were attacked on a main street Tuesday and robbed of $348. They were carrying from an insurance company to a bank. One of the women saved a second bag of money when she grabbed it back from her attackers and scared them off with screams. Police said the men made their getaway in a car driven by a third man.

Heels Spike Lawsuit

VANCOUVER (CP)—Women who wear spike heels should be wary of running on wet floors, county court Judge S. J. Remnant warned Tuesday in dismissing a damage claim against a Vancouver grocery.

The suit against the store was brought by Jeannie Jenkins, who claimed damages of $3,500 for injuries suffered when she fell on the store's floor a year ago.

In a written judgment, Judge Remnant found the store was not negligent in regard to water on the floor at the store's entrance, as claimed. He found that the day in question was wet, that the store had placed mats at the entrance, and that the woman was wearing 2½-inch "spike" heels when she ran into the store.

House Drops Vote at 18

OTTAWA (CP)—A bill to lower the minimum federal voting age to 18 from 21 failed to come to a vote in the Commons Tuesday, though its principle received warm support from all three parties.

Leave Indian Lands Alone

The legislature's only native Indian member, Frank Calder (CCF—Atlin), yesterday urged the government to stop taking over Indian lands, until the federal joint parliamentary committee on Indian matters has brought in its expected report.

Mr. Calder admitted that under existing laws the provincial government can take over and subdivide one-twentieth of Indian reservation

Charges Coming —Black

Provincial government is cracking down on people who deliberately lie to qualify for welfare payments, Welfare Minister Wesley D. Black told the legislature yesterday.

He also lashed out at those people who were "shunning their responsibility" in assisting their relatives, not only financially but also in kind.

HURT SOCIAL LIFE

"You would be surprised, Mr. Speaker, at the demands for services that we receive," he said. "Why, we've had requests for housekeepers to take care of mom and dad because they are curtailing some of the social life of the daughter or son with whom they are living."

Mr. Black said that he regretted the number of people who would perjure themselves in order to obtain public funds.

STOP, PROSECUTE

"We are meeting the case of the individual who travels extensively throughout the province and applies for assistance from office to office. Every effort is made to stop this practice and prosecute when possible."

The minister added it was the duty of every member to bring specific complaints to the attention of the welfare department when abuses of allowances are suspected.

The situation would then be rectified, he promised.

K Pledges A-Ban Try

MOSCOW (UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev said yesterday the Russians will "strive by every means" to reach agreement on a nuclear test ban when the Geneva talks resume.

'King of Torts' Says:

Our Barristers Are Too Bashful

Canadian lawyers don't win high damage awards for their clients because they are too bashful in court, one of America's leading lawyers in the field of personal injury cases said here yesterday.

Melvin M. Belli, of San Francisco, "King of Torts" and internationally known for the high damage settlements he has brought about in American courts, said during a brief visit to Victoria:

"It is utterly inexcusable that you give awards much lower than our courts. The Canadian lawyer doesn't prove up damage as well as he should."

Bashful?

"That's exactly what it is," he said.

Mr. Belli said an American lawyer can win $100,000 for a breadwinner who has lost a leg, while a Canadian lawyer wins only $30,000.
